ETHS Celebrates Tenth Anniversary

Ten years have passed since El Toro High School first opened its doors to the community. In celebration of this tenth anniversary, the yearbook staff chose Building a Tradition as this year's theme to show how much the school has grown.

El Toro High School's first year in 1973 was chaotic. Because major construction was still being done, El Toro students had to attend split day sessions with Mission students at Mission Viejo High School. Mission students were on campus from seven in the morning until twelve in the afternoon when El Toro students came on campus until five. Problems arose rapidly.

El Toro's administrative staff worked out of the cafeteria, both El Toro's and Mission's library were under the same roof, classrooms and athletic facilities were fought over, and strong hostilities developed between the two student bodies.

1. Lake El Toro is created while construction goes on under the lunch cover. 2. Students gather to watch the lunch area being filled with cement. 3. A construction worker pounds away into the afternoon. 4. El Toro's gymnasium is pre-bleachers, pre-basketball courts, and pre-everything. 5. Bulldozers come in to clear the debris away. 6. The hallway of the 600 building is barren in its early years. 7. The first day of school is one filled with dust and excitement.

Thousand Students Open ET in 1974

The following year El Toro High School's gates were finally opened to an eager faculty of forty members, administrators, and a student body of nearly one thousand. For almost four months split day sessions continued at El Toro while bulldozers and cement trucks roamed the campus. This creative and determined group of people set out to build the foundation of the school.

Everyone participated in the decisions made those first few years. They chose the ring design; the school emblem; the school mascot; good old blue and gold; the Alma Mater, which was written by English teacher Ms. Patty Donovan then a student at El Toro; and the newspaper, the Ole, and the yearbook, the Amanecer, which means the dawning.

Pride and comradeship flowed through every person over these and many other accomplishments. They all were aware of the impressions their choices would leave on future classes. They were the builders of tradition.

1. The senior class shows all the spirit they have got. 2. A football game without fans like Paul Harris, Shelley Brenner, and Tracy Barr just isn't the same. 3. Try to grab this bull by the horns. 4. At the halftime show, Kelly Snider from flag and banner follows the routine closely. 5. All cheering squads promote spirit to the best of their abilities. 6. Allyn Randall is amused by Joe Timo's puzzled expression. 7. Pep assemblies really get going when the band swings into gear. 8. Quarterback Mike Douglas goes back for the pass while the defense holds the line at the El Toro versus Mission Viejo game.

Several Traditions Fade From Sight

Over the past decade, traditions have both come and gone. For some, being taken off the books was a necessity; for others, it was neglect or regulations. Locker distribution went from a system based on seniority to no longer being given to seniors at all. The old favorite pastime of being late to class was quickly put into check by a new tardy policy; arrive late and face the penalty of Saturday School or a firing squad. The senior priority of leaving first at assemblies has been lost in a stampede of underclassmen. Toilet paper on Baby Day was left on the rolls, not in the trees.

One tradition at El Toro has remained a strong force through the years. Academic performance by students and the high quality of teaching has become a milestone. School spirit has been on the upswing and more people are becoming involved in school activities.

1. Seniors Diane Earley and Terri Focht alias the "nerds," stroll off to study after the pep assembly. 2. Clouds of dust fly through the air as everyone fishes for the cookie in the pan of flour. 3. Spending a quiet afternoon in Dana Point harbor are sailing club members Troy Devers and Jennifer Garrido. 4. Pete Perez avoids the rush hour traffic and goes to his locker before class. 5. Tracey Wilkin Christy Wellman, and Jerilyn Luther model the latest fashion required in all P.E. classes. 6. Senior Rock is a rest spot for juniors Micaela Daly and Shelby Sweetman. 7. Babies Dave Fleming and Matt Close float around campus in their boat christened "We're A Little Dingy". 8. Senior Don Hill works hard on last night's homework.

Traditions, Jeans Withstand Time

Like a pair of old faded blue jeans, traditions have been handed down from one year to the next. A new pair always seems stiff, at first, and breaking them in takes time and persistence. When they are purchased there are true-blue hopes of them lasting through the years. Some are misused and wear out quickly. Others withstand the test of time. The ones that do survive are handled with care for others to enjoy and carry on. Though they might appear threadbare in places, their importance can never be thought of as insignificant. A good pair of jeans leaves a feeling of money well spent just as a tradition leaves a lasting impression on all with whom it comes in contact. When looking back, a fondness over the times shared with them makes them well worthwhile.

ACTIVITIES
ACTIVITIES

Activities have been a major part of school life for El Toro ever since opening day. From the first victorious football game against cross town rivals Mission Viejo to the annual spirit week festivities, something has always been happening.

One thing was missing when the school opened in 1974; a senior class. The student body then was made up of freshmen, sophomores and juniors only. For this reason, the Homecoming game and dance and graduation exercises were not a part of the activities calendar. In place of the Homecoming queen a Spirit queen was chosen.

The scope of activities has broadened immensely since those days. Casual dances have become the "in" thing as many people have gotten back into the dance craze. Membership in service clubs, performing arts, and special interest groups has steadily grown. Diversity is the key to the success they have had.

Activities play an important role. They make school more than just a learning experience. They bring fun and excitement into the learning atmosphere and give people the chance to branch out into areas never before explored. They make high school a time worth remembering.

1. Their first day on campus at El Toro, students are greeted by the marching band who are playing the fight song in full roar. 2. Enthusiastic football fans fill the stands during the rival match against Mission Viejo. 3. "Red rover, red rover . . ." is the cry from babies Kirk Cooper and Mark Groothus.

Seeberg, Cherri Assemblies Rowdy

This year's pep assemblies, organized by ASB and Pep Commissioners Mindy Cherri and Karen Seeberg, were well-planned and creative. The first, Mission Viejo assembly, started the winning year. It held a few surprises for the audience. One of them was the Dance Team performance. It was the first time they danced for the school. Another memorable rally was the Fall Sports assembly. During it the ASB did a skit dressed as raisins while Mary Tritt dressed as the unforgettable spoon. Then the song and cheerleaders acted out different sports to music. Another highlight was the Homecoming assembly during which the Marching Band performed a number followed by Drill Team. The snack rallies promoted spirit and provided a break from a busy day. Some of the activities that took place during them were a cracker eating contest and an apple bobbing contest. Since 1973, pep assemblies have been one of the more popular and entertaining traditions of El Toro.

1. A group of saxophonists plays a number for their rowdy audience at the Mission Viejo assembly. 2. After several attempts, the junior varsity cheerleaders succeed in forming a pyramid. 3. Seniors Paul Svitenko and Brian Fronk are drenched from trying to retrieve apples from a barrel of water at the Sea King snack rally. 4. During the Fall Sport assembly the varsity water polo team is introduced. 5. Sophomore Debbie Nokes completes the cookie eating contest and wipes the remaining flour from her face. 6. Seniors Holly Larson and Joe Muklevicz enjoy the honor of being two of the ten Homecoming Court finalists. 7. Mascots seniors Natalie Potts and Gina Setting help the cheer and songleaders promote spirit at the Sea King snack rally. 8. As the Mission Viejo assembly comes to an end, the senior class prepares for class competition. 9. Juniors Beth Doty, Stephanie Mayer, and Corrine McCamey cheer loudly during the Cypress snack assembly. 10. Senior Diane Wolf takes a break from playing her instrument and just enjoys the pep rally.

Spirited Babies Turn Number One

The Senior class took first place during Spirit Week. It was the first time the class of 1983 placed first during their four years. The active week began with field day. The seniors took the lead and ran with it. Later that afternoon hall competition was held in the 300 building. A Snoopy dog house, lucy's psychiatrist booth, and posters of Charlie Brown along with rest of the gang was a definite clue the theme was Peanuts. Then Thursday, October 21 baby day had arrived. The teachers dedicated a few of their morning hours to cook the first Annual Senior Breakfast. A strong majority of the class turned out for the free breakfast.

Over the span of years the senior classes have taken victory for first six times; second, once; third, twice; and has never been last. It started with the first Spirit Week; the idea was taken from Mission Viejo High School, and has continued as one of the favorite annual events.

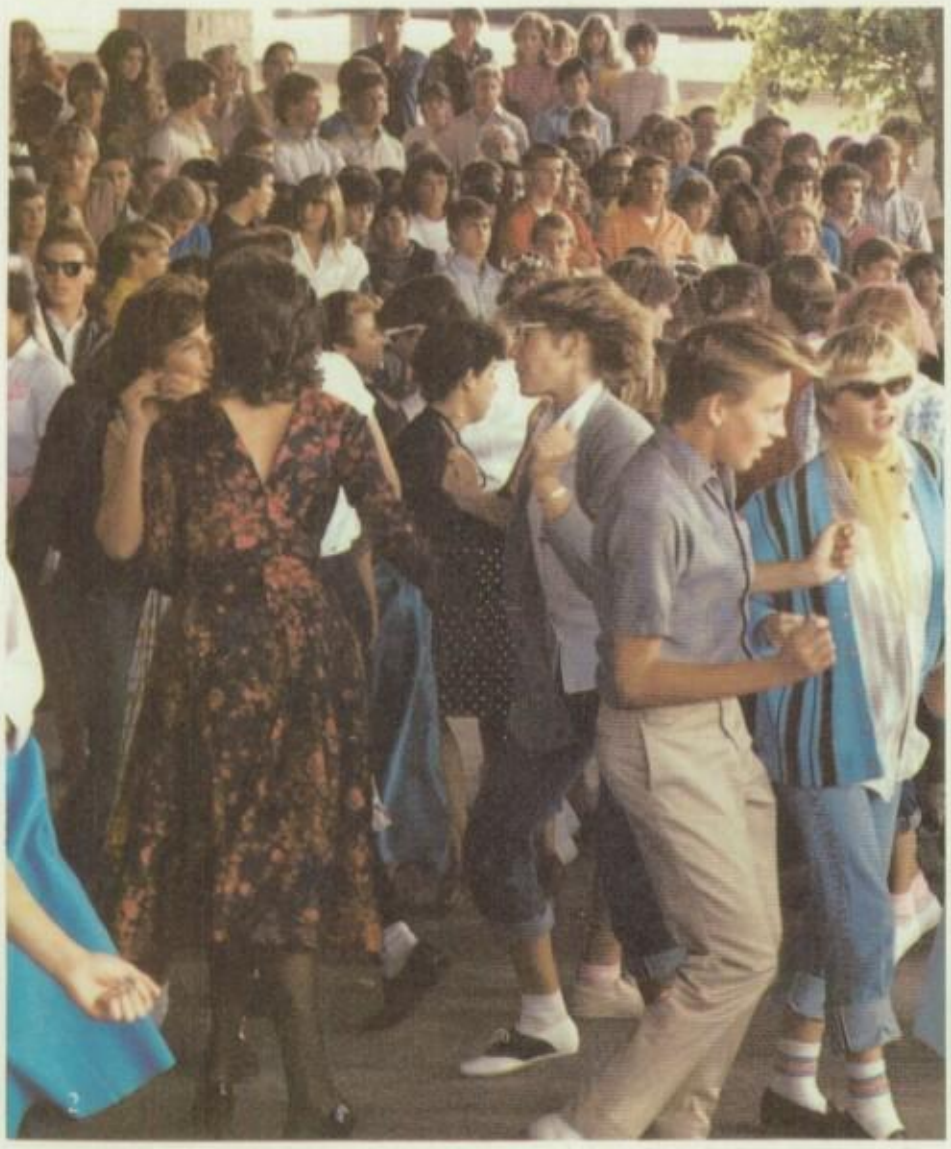
1. Ken Woods, dressed as a war baby, searches for an unexpecting victim to shoot with his toy water gun. 2. During snack Holly Larson and Kelly Mayer take a break from baby activities to pose for the photographer. 3. In his space machine, Ed Crew waits patiently for his twin baby, Craig Nemeth, to return from his journey. 4. After finishing his lunch, Eric Darby plans to join in on a game of red rover. 5. During field day Kevin Smith bounds over the high jump putting the seniors in the lead. 6. After finishing their senior breakfast, held in the multi-purposes room, James Bai and Suzi Bechtold are full of energy and ready to start an active day. 7. Sherri Sindle and Mona Piecuch rest during lunch after a vigorous night and a busy day. 8. Carrie Carlson plays duck-duck-goose and is about to tag unexpecting Jennefer Walsh. 9. Dave Fleming and Matt Close float about after finishing a game of red rover before school starts.

Sock Hop Rocks Juniors to Second

Junior Class President, Wade Kirk, lead his class companions to a second place victory during Spirit Week. Field day, held on October 18, was the first competion event. They placed second. Then the class of '84 decorated the 400 building at 3:00 p.m. the same day. Their theme for the hall was a bowling alley. There was an imitation bowling lane with pins and a bowling ball, ice cream stand, pinball machine, an old fashioned coke machine, and 50's albums hung on the wall. The hall had an authentic 50's look but placed third for hall competition. Points were deducted for clean up. Then Tuesday, October 19 was 50's day. That morning the junior class met at the I-Hop to have breakfast. During snack people listened to the music from the jukebox that was in the hall. The main event happened at lunch. The Stringer band played 50's tunes for the juniors. They danced the "Hop," "Twist," and other dances while they listened to songs such as "Rock Around the Clock." So many people participated that there was barely any room to dance.

It has been a tradition that juniors dress as 50's during Spirit Week since 1973. On this day you could have seen girls that wore poodle skirts, and guys with their hair all greased back. 50's day has been a strong motive to promote school spirit.

1. It's a close race between the juniors and seniors, and time is running out as Susan Strabic struggles to the top of the pyramid on field day. 2. The junior class rocks to the music. 3. After getting out of the crowd, Laura Blanchard and Desiree Habeger take a break from dancing, and are entertained by the Stringer band during lunch. 4. Celeste Reineck and Junior Class President Wade Kirk, who organized the 50's activities, find the dancing and the band interesting.



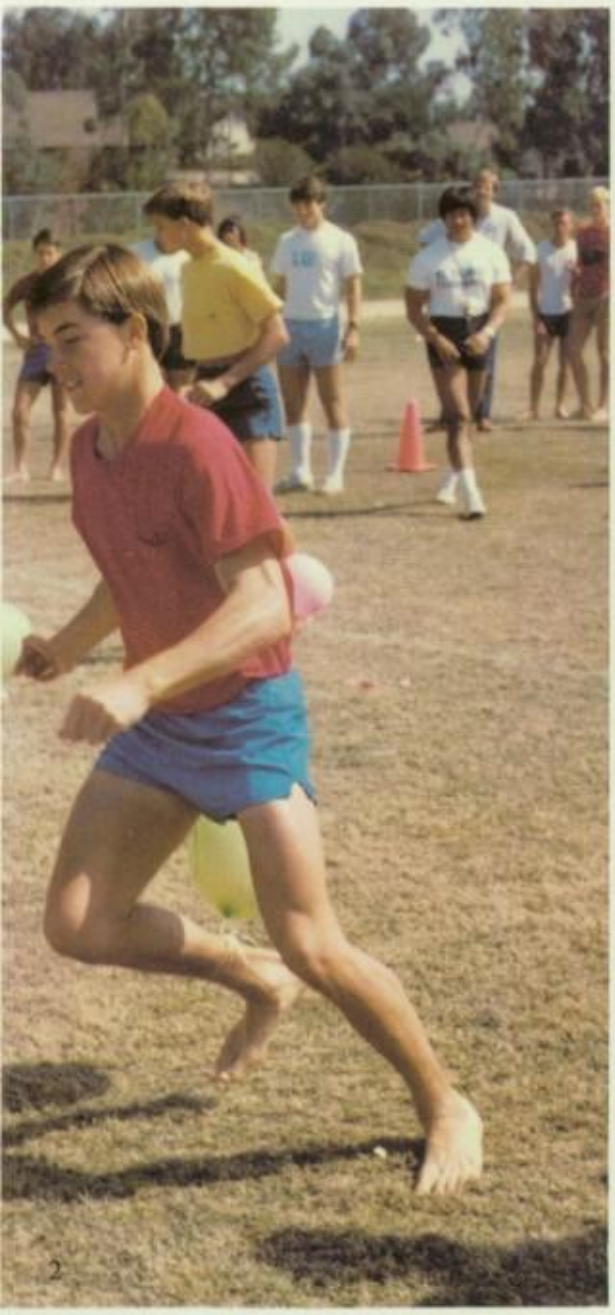
"Flower Children" Protest for Peace

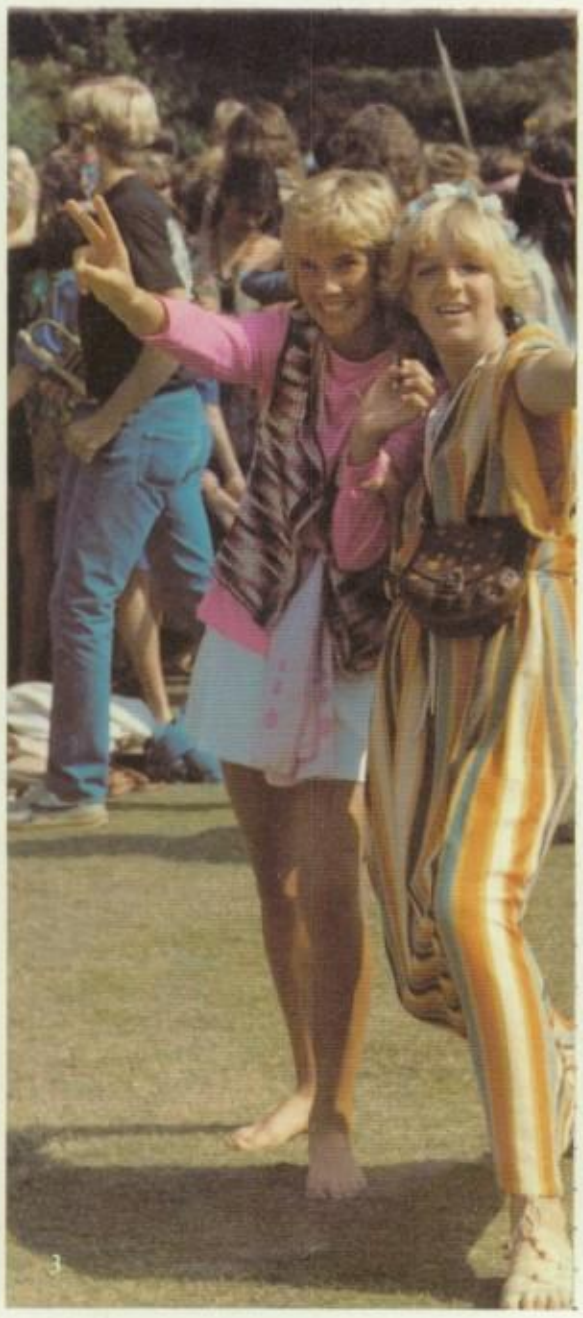
The sophomore class dressed as the 60's for the second year. On this day you could have seen the class of '85 acting out this era of time. Girls and Guys wore the popular style for that period of time for example colorful clothing, long hair, and open toe sandles. They also handed out flowers and carried protest signs. A sit-in protest was organized for snack and lunch. It was followed by a special visit by the Beatles.

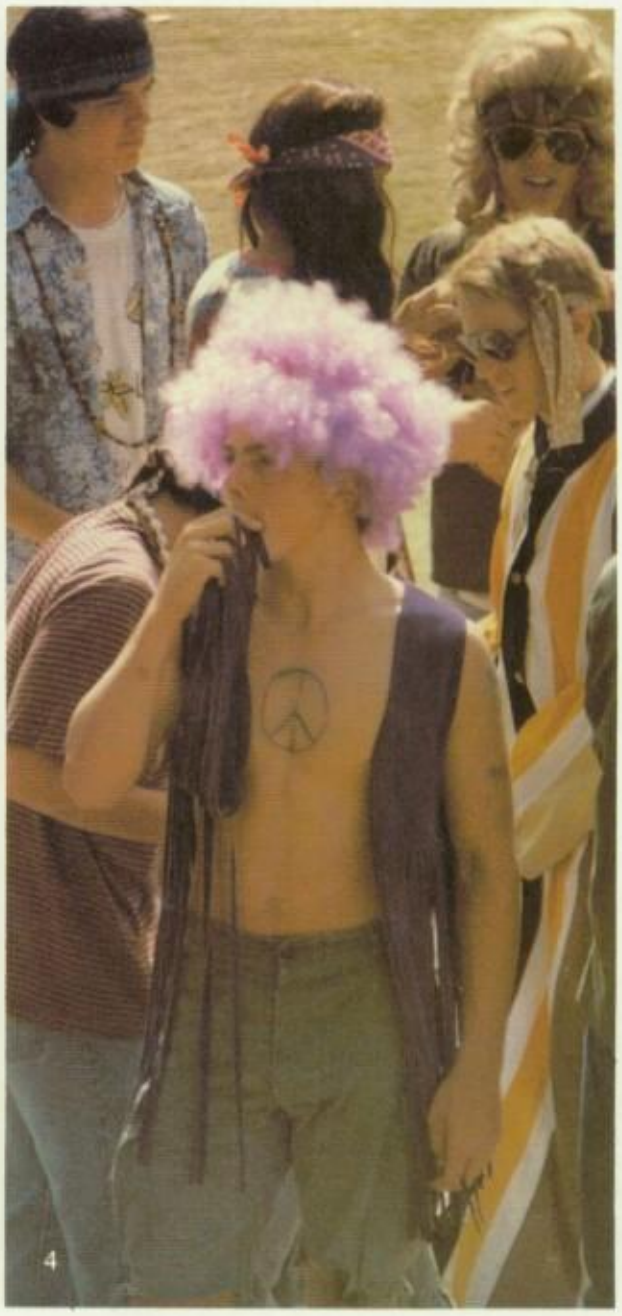
Even though they put a lot of effort into each event on field day they still came in third. They placed second in the hall competition. On the floor bean bags were scattered and strings of beads hung down from the ceiling. Posters and album covers of the Beatles and other 60's groups hung on the wall. All of their enthusiasm and spirit totaled up to third place for Spirit Week.

The sophomore class hasn't a traditional Spirit Week custom like the upper classes. There has been various outfits worn during the past. It seemed like the 60's day may have started a trend for the future sophomore classes to follow.

1. After protesting during snack Chris Muklevicz, John Barro and Scott Kirby walk to their next class. 2. Chris Cooley tries to run from his opponents and gets ready to pop their balloons, too. 3. Lisa Cass and Kim Martin stop protesting long enough to make a peace sign for a photographer. 4. John Jungkeit takes a break from the 60's activities to look for his friends while the other "hippies" prepare for a protest rally.







Freshmen Portray Senior Citizens

At the freshman class meeting on September 28, the freshman class met in Charger Hall to discuss Spirit Week and make a decision on the theme. Nominations for the theme were Twenties Day, Nerd Day, and Senior Citizens Day. The unanimous vote went to senior citizens.

The 500 building was decorated as Leisure World. "Leisure World" consisted of a cemetery, a wheel chair, and many types of games, including bingo, yahtzee, checkers, and chess. At lunch, the freshman class President Chieko Woods held a bingo game; Shale Ming was the winner.

During the second Spirit Assembly, the freshman class placed first in the class competition. At field day, the freshmen put forth a tremendous effort, placing second in the pyramid race, but fourth overall. The participation of the freshman class was outstanding, even though they finished last.

1. A group of senior citizens gathers around the entrance to the 300 building. 2. Mia Gasporra and Cheryl Montroy show off their sexy legs. 3. Chieko Woods, the Freshman Class President, looks down at her card to see if she has a bingo. 4. Daphne Schafer, with fins on her feet, runs in the relay, while trying not to spill the water in the cup.

Faculty Members Reminiscing Back

This year, the faculty decided to reminisce back in time to the Senior Prom. Mr. Daugherty, the faculty advisor, decided that Prom Night was best because one teacher suggested it and also, a lot of teachers were becoming tired of the usual Western attire. About 20 members of the faculty dressed up, and about 10 dressed up in grubby clothes, to be funny. During field day, the teachers were the judges.

1. Mrs. Diamond, in her prom dress, shows her fancy tennis shoes. 2. Coach Alderson and Coach Dickey go over the plans for the field day activities. 3. Mrs. Ambrose models her beautiful prom dress. 4.Coach Johnson and Coach Webster decide what activity is to be next.

Homecoming Game Adds Another Win

This year's Homecoming game added another win to El Toro's overall record as the varsity football team whipped Costa Mesa High School by the lop-sided score of 29-7. The halftime festivities consisted of the crowning of the queen. The nominees and last year's queen Monica Osborn were driven around Mission Viejo's track in Thunderbirds donated by the Thunderbird Owners Club of Orange County. Holly Larsen was then crowned this year's queen after a gangster-like performance put on by several teachers. At the dance, Larsen crowned Jerry Eldridge this year's king. Nominees for the court were Ed Christian, Eldridge, Brian Fronk, Joe Muklevicz, Paul Svitenko, Kelly Havens, Larsen, Melissa Osborn, Debbie Tome, and Mary Tritt.

1. Mr. Fred Van Leuven and Mr. Jay Herron kidnap Holly Larsen, this year's Homecoming queen. 2. Last year's Homecoming queen, Monica Osborn, happily congratulates a very surprised Holly Larsen. 3. Number 36, senior Jerry Eldridge, tries to make a run with the ball. 4. Number 42, senior Blake Fennell, carries the ball as number 52, senior Joe Muklevicz, blocks the opponents. 5. Seniors Holly Larsen and Kelly Morgan cheer loudly for the senior class at the Homecoming assembly. 6. A group of seniors show their rowdiness. 7. Holly Larsen crowns Jerry Eldridge, the Homecoming king, at the Homecoming dance. 8. The 1982-83 princes and king: Brian Fronk, Ed Christian, Jerry Eldridge, Paul Svitenko, and Joe Muklevicz. 9. Mr. Bob Bosanko and Mr. Fred Van Leuven open the door for queen Holly Larsen after her ride around the track in a Rolls-Royce. 10. The alumni pep squad and pep commissioner, Top row; Elizabeth Tillis, Charmaine Castillo, Camilla Formica, Stacy Doss, Dana Strabic, Kelly Mayer, and Mona Leung. Front row; Tracy Dickey, Jaimi McFarlin, Sheryl Isley, Barby Heavican, Erin Parnell, Tina Diumenti, and Dorie Buckley. 11. The alumni cheerleaders construct a pyramid.

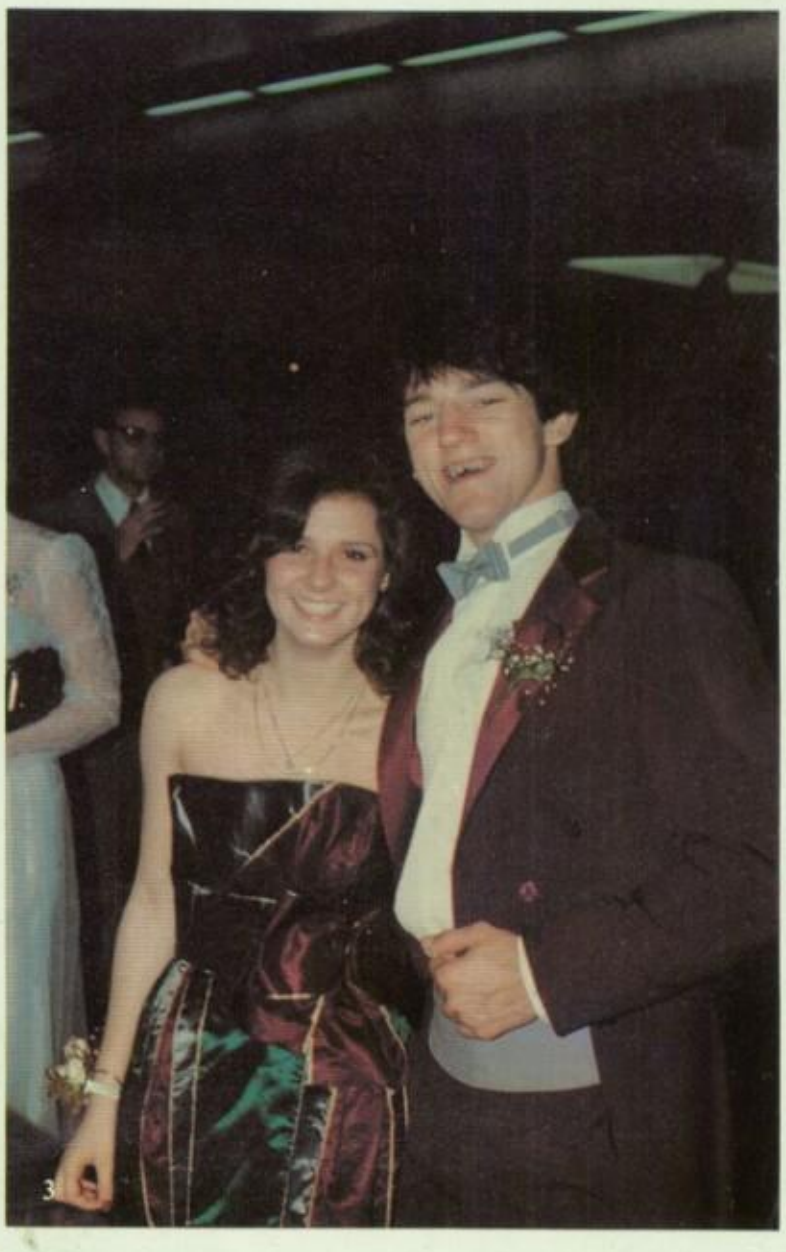
"A Winter's Dream" sponsored by Girls' League on Monday, December 20 was a night to remember. The Winter Formal was held at the Costa Mesa Neighborhood Community Center. Music for the evening was provided by Scandal. The theme for the Christmas Formal was taken from the movie "Ice Castles." The theme song from the movie, "Through the Eyes of Love," was the main theme of the dance.

The royal court was announced by Girls' League President Senior Jennifer Walsh. Jaimi McFarlin and Mike McLain reigned as Queen and King. The princesses and princes were Seniors Susan Tanner and Rick Wyzykowski, Seniors Kelly Mayer and Mike Piel, Juniors Celeste Reineck and Dan Trickett, and Sophomores Danielle Sweazy and Bill Mueller. The Winter Formal has been one of the most romantic traditions of El Toro.

1. As senior Brian Horgan and sophomore Lisa Cass enter the dance they are handed a ballet to vote for the winter court. 2. Junior Laura Blanchard and senior Jerry Eldridge vote for the royal court. 3. Seniors Mindy Cherri, Pep Commissioner, and Paul Svitenko, ASB President, are on their way to the dance floor. 4. A crowd of students sway to the music sung by the band Scandal



6,500 Fans Cheer Varsity to Victory

The Varsity football team ended the season with a bang. They not only captured Sea View League, but they also were CIF Central Conference Championship. The game was held at Orange Coast College LeBard Stadium on Friday, December the third in front of 6,500 fans. Fullerton, the opponent, has a record of 13-0. The Chargers soon put an end to their perfect score with a final score 35-19 in the title game.

The captains of the game were Seniors Mike McLain, Shawn Cardin, Paul Svitenko, and Brett Paton. The coaches that directed the team were head coach Bob Johnson, John Johansen, Marty Spalding, and Bill Dickey.

It was the first time in the school's ten year history that the varsity football team won CIF. It was a tradition that was gladly broken.

1. Senior Gary Pifer celebrates the victory against Fullerton for CIF League. 2. After a vigorous game Jerry Eldridge relaxes. 3. Varsity Cheerleaders, performing to music, achieve their formation after several previous tries. 4. Senior CIF playoff captain, Mike McLain, runs with the ball leaving his opponent far behind. 5. Members of Drill Team and their mascot, E.T., enjoy watching the cheerleaders during the CIF assembly. 6. CIF playoff "honorary captain" Brett Paton cheers the team on to victory from the sidelines. 7. Seniors Kim Brightly and Kim Kiefer search for their friends during the football game. 8. Seniors Shawn Cardin and Brian Horgan congratulate each other after the win over Fullerton for CIF title. 9. Junior Susan Straebic and Senior Elizabeth Tillis take a break from cheering to catch their breath. 10. Some very cheerful football players gather together to show the audience who's number one.

Drama Production Entertains Fans

This year the Production Company presented the drama play "I Remember Mama." The drama play was held in Charger Hall during November eighteenth thorugh the twentyth at 8:00 p.m. The play was directed by Carol Stanfield. The cast worked diligently for approximately seven weeks at rehearsal in order to make the play a success.

The plot of "I Remember Mama" told about the problems the Hansen family experienced. Some of the difficulties that they had to face were there was not enough money, pets, relatives, and the traumas of youth. The oldest daughter Christine (Mary Weedman) narrated the play, but the real star of the story was the character Mama (Amy Fiedor). Like most mothers she was the one who took care of the family. The production was a sentimental comedy.

1. The nurse (Melissa Kaplan) occupies her time while the other actors act out their parts. 2. Dagmar (Kristen Bergstrom) plays with the cat, Uncle Elizabeth, while her father, Ben Field, attempts to read his paper. 3. Aunt Jenny (Julie Stenger) and Aunt Trina (Kristine Thomas) discuss the problems they're having with Uncle Chris. 4. Uncle Chris, played by Brian Day, lectures to his two nieces. 5. Uncle Chris (Brian Day) discusses the issue of marriage with the frightened couple, Aunt Trina (Kristine Thomas) and her fiancé Mr. Thordelson (Robert Bardenburg). 6. Amy Fiedor and William Berger act out their parts as Mama and Dr. Johnson. 7. Mama (Amy Fiedor) and her sister, Aunt Trina (Kristine Thomas), reminisce about the old country. 8. Shannon McCleerey acts out her role as the winey Aunt Sigrid. 9. Nels (Manfred Kuhmert), Katrine (Dawn Ellen Lee), Christine (Mary Weedman), Dagmar (Kristen Bergstrom) find their aunts amusing. 10. The entire family gathers around the table to count their weekly income.

Welcome Back Calls on FBI

On the first Friday of the school year, September 10, the A.S.B. sponsored the school's second annual "Back to School Dance." The dance attracted about 600 people and featured a band called F.B.I. The band included El Toro seniors James Bai and Jerry Kistler, and former Chargers Danny Gasser, Ed Fuzzel, Trisha Gross, and Brian Kobryn. Some songs played were new wave and rock-a-billy, like "Stray Cat Strut," "Only the Lonely," "Vacation," and "Wipe Out." The dance, lasting three hours in the gym, proved to be as successful as last year's popular dance.

1. Jerry Kistler turns around before he leaves the stage for a break. 2. Ed Fuzzel plays a few notes of "Stray Cat Strut" on his guitar. 3. A group of rock-a-billies shows the way they dance. 4. Dan Ojeda and Marla Setting, in their rock-a-billy clothes, smile for the camera after dancing. 5. Trisha Gross, the lead singer of F.B.I., smiles at her friends who are dancing. 6. Esther Eun dances to "Stray Cat Strut." 7. A group of over 600 packs the gym for the first dance. 8. Cheryl Montroy and Jennifer Calkins smile after dancing. 9. Sven Bolen shows his neat rock-a-billy suit.

Key Club, Strabic Basketball Winners.

On November 17, the faculty and Key Club met again in the gym to determine who could play basketball best . . . on donkeys. It's clear enough to see, that with a score of 50-Key Club and 34-faculty, the Key Club is this year's champion. You have to have patience and determination to play that well with donkeys and all of the players did well. Junior Susan Strabic, this year's Key Club Sweetheart, also participated in the game. Though it may sound like fun, the game involves a lot of pain. Mr. Miller was kicked in the leg and other players had their share of falls.

1. Mr. Jones attempts to mount his donkey and make a shot. 2. Mr. Bosanko tries to get on his donkey with the ball. 3. Senior Gary Johnson misses a shot and Mr. Jones attempts to catch the rebound. 4. Mr. Joyce reaches for the ball. 5. Senior Mark Groothius reaches the ball, as Mr. Waddell tries to get his donkey to the ball. 6. A sample ticket of the Donkey Basketball game. 7. Mr. Bosanko drops the ball after he is dropped from the donkey. 8. Mr. Waddell attempts to make a shot. 9. The Key Club team: Senior Dave Zellhart, junior Susan Strabic, senior Steve Thomas, senior Gary Johnson, freshman Robby Bryant, junior Jeff Ball, senior Mark Groothius, junior Brad Joseph, and junior Mike Patnode. 10. Mr. Waddell rides on down the court to the basket with hopes of scoring two points.

Chorus Brings Holiday Greeting

This year the Chamber Choir performed their annual Christmas concert. It took place on Monday, December sixth in Charger Hall. The choir entertained the audience by singing the traditional holiday music for example "Silent Night." A few individuals were selected to perform solos. Mr. Jerry Rouse directed the concert. The choir brought holiday cheer to the audience. This concert has been a tradition at El Toro for many years. Each year the music they sing improve.

1. Junior Krista Tierney sings the song "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth" at the choir concert. 2. Senior Mary Weedman amuses the audience with her acting and singing talents. 3. Senior Manfred Kuhnert sings while members of the choir decorates him. 4. The choir entertained the audience during the holiday concert.

Instrumental Band Entertains ETH

The Orchestra, the Jazz Band, and the Marching Symphonic Band entertained music fans in their special holiday concert. Their director was Mrs. Pat Rainer. It took place in Charger Hall at 7:30 pm on Tuesday, December seventh. The instrument concert played harmoniously together and exhibited their talents. They performed songs such as "I'll Be Home for Christmas." Throughout the concert a few individual artists were featured. The concert promoted holiday spirit and is a growing holiday tradition.

Intermediate Has Successful Recital

On January 7, the Intermediate dance, with the help of Mrs. Mitchell and Spencer Haruska and Amy St. John, put on a performance showing their daily routine. The opening act was a skit showing the average day. The rest of the show consisted of the skills the dancers accumulated during the length of the school year.

1. A group of dancers demonstrate a dance taught to them at the beginning of the school year. 2. Debbie Nokes dances to Gloria. 3. Sheila Heany and Charlene dance to the Cabaret. 4. Mia Moorehead and Marla Setting dance to Hot in the City. 5. Regina Rofoli and Tracy Fannin dance to the Charleston. 6. Celeste Reineck dances to Who Can it Be Now. 7. The Cabaret chorus line. 8. Julie Sidur is a Detective. 9. Natalie Nicole and Jill McLaughlin dance to Gloria.

Donors Donate 157 Pints of Blood

On Tuesday, February 15, about 157 people, students and teachers alike, filled the library through the course of the day. These people volunteered their blood to help save the lives of others. The donors went through a series of questions before actually giving their blood. Some donors became slightly sick after the ordeal. There was a refreshment area in the library so that the donors could replenish their bodies with orange juice. Some students who were either not old enough or underweight, helped in the organization of the Blood drive. The main organizers were senior Debbie Tomé and junior Diane Chadwick.

1. Blake Fennell, after donating his blood to the Red Cross, drinks up the orange juice given to him. 2. Rick McDowell is being questioned before giving his blood. 3. Coach Mike Waddall rests on the table while his blood is being taken out. 4. After giving his blood, Brian Deming doesn't feel too well.

"Be the Dream" Educates Students

On March the fourth a new tradition began for E.T.H.S. This new event, sponsored by the Career Center, was the Career Fair. The theme was "Be The Dream." It was held in the gymnasium from 8:00 am to 1:00 pm, and all of the students were invited. The activity provided the students with opportunities to explore various careers. It was a successful attempt to educate the students about choosing a career.

1. Senior Krista Harman has her blood pressure taken while Senior Monica Garan talks to the health instructor. 2. Seniors Sarah Di Maria and Venera Di Maria give their help and time to the Career Fair. 3. A group of students gather around the jewelry booth to learn more information from the guest speaker. 4. Sophomore Rosauro Pevez watches a baker decorate a cake.

"Carousel" Brings Music to ETHS

This year's musical production was "Carousel." Rehearsals for the play started ten weeks before opening night. The cast and the production members devoted many long hours, 3:00 to 8:00 pm five days a week. Also Ms. Carol Stanfield directed the production. As a result of this effort the play was sold out most of the nights they performed, and was a success.

1. Reberto Valdés and Pamela Langord act out their characters as Billy Bigelow and Julie Jordan. 2. Enoch Snow Jr. (Bob Berger) tells Carrie Pipperidge (Mary Weedman) what their marriage would be like when they are married. 3. Stephanie Carlin, as one of the 'beauties of Europe,' talks with another dancer. 4. John Craig and Wendy Hurley complete a dance. 5. Senior Brian Day juggles in front of an audience at the country fair. 6. Nattie Fowler (Cher Molendyk) sings to the local fisherman. 7. Steve Nahrstadt discusses a 'deal' with Reberto Valdes. 8. Muscle man, Shawn Miller, shows the local country girls how much strength he possesses.

Spirit of Sadie Returns to ETHS

This year's Sadie Hawkins dance, sponsored by the sophomores and freshmen, was held in the school gym on Saturday, March 12, from 7:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The band that entertained the many students that showed up, was the Stringers. At the Sadie Hawkins dances, the tradition is to elect four Daisy Mae's and four Li'l Abner's one from each grade level. Each class voted for one Daisy Mae and one Li'l Abner from their class. Chosen by the freshmen were Carol Moore and Brendan Horgan. The sophomore class decided on Kei Sellers and Sam Svitenko to be Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner. Karen Fadel and Shelby Sweetman were chosen by the junior class and Suzie Buscombe and Shawn Cardin were elected by the senior class.

SPORTS
SPORTS

As far back as the first football game played and won against rival Mission Viejo in 1974, sports have played a very significant role in high school life at El Toro. The sports program, like many others on campus, has gone through many changes due to cut backs in funds. This has resulted in the hiring of temporary coaches, the cancellation of such sports as gymnastics and badminton, and the institution of a 25 dollar participation fee from the students themselves. Nevertheless, the spirit of participation from the student body has never faltered.

Through the years, El Toro's sports program has benefited the school in many ways. It has contributed to the establishment of school unity by bringing the students together in sports assemblies and pep rallies. Such activities have instilled into the students a sense of school pride and loyalty. The games themselves provide a place for friends to gather, have fun, and cheer El Toro on to victory!

To the athletes themselves, sports has played a very important part in their high school years. These individuals were chosen to represent El Toro and this instills in them a feeling of school pride and a sense of self pride in their personal abilities. El Toro's athletic program not only emphasizes the physical aspects of a sport, but also teaches the athlete lessons rarely found in a classroom environment and never found in books; lessons like self discipline, teamwork, cooperation, good sportmanship, and comradery, which all contribute to the growth and maturation of an athlete as an individual.

From the very beginning, El Toro's sports program has added another dimension to life here on campus. It has benefited not only the school as a whole, but it has also helped the individual athlete grow as a person. Certainly, the El Toro athletic program has played a very significant role in high school life.

Varsity Secures the CIF Title

The varsity football team of this past season won it all. The season began on a proper note, with the Chargers trouncing an aggressive Cypress team, 21-7. The team went on to a 2-1 preseason record; losing a heartbreaker to crosstown rival Mission Viejo, 10-0, and knocking off Valencia, 28-0. The Chargers now prepared for the tough league season ahead. With an opening-game loss to upstart Newport Harbor, 17-7, the critics came out and said that the Chargers had no chance to repeat and win the Sea View League crown. But after the Newport game, the Chargers rolled off a league-season winning streak of six straight. These wins included a miraculous 23-19 comeback triumph over Estancia, and a 9-7 win over rival Saddleback, figured by many to be league champs. But with the Charger victory, a co-championship was the case.

The Chargers were the first entry from the Sea View League,and disappointed no one as they moved steadily through the preliminaries and took the C.I.F. trophy from a tough Fullerton Indians team, 35-19. It was a fitting finale to a fantastic season.

Most Valuable Player was Paul Svitenko, Most Improved Player went to Brian Horgan, and Coach's Award went to Ed Christian.

Sophomores Earn League Co-Title

The '82-'83 sophomore football team did an excellent job during the past season. Going into the Sea View League season, the team had a 3-0 record, defeating the likes of Mission Viejo. The winning streak continued until the last contest of the season, when the team lost a heartbreaker to a game Saddleback team, 23-21. The team tied with University whom they had defeated at an earlier date. Led by quarterback Rodney Gatlin, and with a strong receiving corps, the offense broke the backs of many defenses. The defenses held the opposing offenses to little or no gains on many plays from scrimmage.

Some of the better players are Rodney Gatlin, Hank Brown, Matt Tietz, Chuck Kunsaitis, Bob Frick, Bill Miller, and Todd Sinclair. All are sophomores, and will move up next season to help form an awesome varsity team of the future. This is the second year in a row that this group has won a league championship; last year as freshman, and this year as co-champions. Coach Bob Bosanko was very impressed with the efforts of his players.

Freshmen Use All Potential Strength

This year's freshmen football team performed well on the field, despite their lack of experience. The Charger freshmen struggled during the early part of the season, with a preseason record of one win and two losses. Then, as Sea View League competition began, the spirited group pulled together, and the results showed this fact. The team went 3-3 during Sea View League play, with the three losses being close games, and the victories were a true team effort, as the offense and the defense combined to shut down opponents. The big win was the 49-6 absolute annihilation of rival Newport Harbor High School, as the Chargers bombed the Sailor freshmen. Some of the big players for the Charger freshmen were Earl Desiderio, Chad Fouts, David Guysi, and Ken Mitzushima, even though all the Charger freshmen should be mentioned here, for the fact that every game was a team effort. Coach Larry Nitta, who guided this team through thick and thin, did an excellent job molding the eager freshmen into a fine team.

Varsity Swims to CIF Semi-Finals

The varsity water polo team went further in C.I.F. competition than ever before during the past year. Beating all their opponents soundly, the Chargers went all the way to the C.I.F. semifinals, before losing a heartbreaker to Newport Harbor, 7-5.

In preseason play, and including non-league matches held during the league season, the Chargers were 16-4, with wins over Servite, 11-8, and over Fountain Valley, 12-5. During this time span the varsity also won the prestigious Villa Park Classic. In league play, the Chargers went 5-2, losing only to perrenial powers Newport Harbor and Corona Del Mar. Big Sea View League wins were recorded over Costa Mesa, 10-6, and University, 5-4. The team went on in C.I.F. play, beating Esperanza, Beverly Hills, and Sunny Hills, before their unfortunate elimination.

Junior Kevin Stringer had a remarkable season in goal, stopping 64% of all shots. Returning lettermen, seniors Craig Popp and Greg Wilson were the big guns in the Charger offense.

JV Team Works Hard for Respect

The '82-'83 junior varsity water polo team had a fine season representing El Toro High School. At the beginning of the season, a large number of eager swimmers came out, and Coaches Brian Guidry and Jeff Grosse had the makings of a fine team. Hurt by lack of experience, and playing schools with good teams, the Charger junior varsity got off to a rough start, having a 4-7 record in preseason play. But, some of these losses were at the hands of schools' varsity clubs. Toughened by the defeats, the junior varsity matured, and went into league play with a winning attitude. Their first league match was a 5-0 shutout drubbing of powerhouse Newport Harbor High School. The stage was set for a great season, and the junior varsity disappointed no one, as they went on to a 5-2 win-loss record in the tough Sea View League. Besides the triumph over Newport Harbor, other big wins were recorded over Estancia, 12-9, Costa Mesa, 12-3, and over Irvine 17-5. The 5-2 record earned the Charger junior varsity a well-deserved third place finish in league play.

Big players for the junior varsity seniors Steve Haddock and Andy Rickabaugh, junior Mike Gillespie, and freshman Trey Atkins. As the majority of the players were freshmen, hopes are high for next years season.

Frosh-Soph Team Makes the Grade

The frosh-soph water polo team was successful in a very big way this past year. With many returning players, the team had a strong base from which to build from. In preseason action, the team started off well, with a 17-1 laugher over Edison High School. The frosh-soph's went on to attain a 12-3 mark in pre-league play, including winning the Los Alamitos Frosh-Soph Tournament. When the Sea View League season began, the Chargers were ready. Their first game was against the almost invincible Newport Harbor Sailors, which handed the frosh-soph team their first league loss, 7-4. But the team overcame this adversity and won all the remaining league games, finishing up with a 6-1 record, good enough for second place in the Sea View League. Big league victories were a 5-4 squeaker over Corona Del Mar, a 6-4 win over highly-regarded Costa Mesa, and 10-3 drubbing of University.

Goalie Frank Beebe, a sophomore was superb on defense for the frosh-soph team, stopping 45 out of 81 shots. High scorers on offense were sophomores Brian Berneking, David Knox, Dan Novinski, Matt Frazzetta, and Eric Home, and Mark Yakota. Coach Jeff Grosse did an excellent job guiding the team during the past season.

Team Repeats as League Champions

The past season was one of great successes for the '82-'83 varsity cross country team. With three returning varsity runners, Coach Mike Waddell was confident about the outlook for the coming season. In the preseason, the Charger varsity had their first test at the San Luis Obispo Invitational. The team was equal to the task, and came away with a first-place trophy. The varsity went on to capture the Huntington Beach Invitational, and earned second place at the Esperanza Invitational. In league running, the Chargers first faced the tough University High School Trojans in a dual meet. The varsity won a tough 26-29 victory. In cross country, the team with the lowest score is the victor.

The El Toro varsity went on to an unblemished 7-0 Sea View League record, earning them their second consecutive league crown. Now the team went into post-season meets. The first challenge was the county championships, where the Chargers won second place. Moving onward, next came the Mount Sac. Invitational, a preliminary for the C.I.F. championships. Here the varsity placed fifth. In the C.I.F. finals, the Charger varsity fought out a well-deserved fourth place.

The three senior team members returning, Bill Cunningham, Erik Farien and Mike Makens, all ran well in every meet, as well as the runners from the lower levels last year.

1. The El Toro varsity cruises out to an early lead, in a dual meet versus Corona del Mar and University, on the Cañada Loop course. 2. Spencer Allen nears the finish of another race on the tough Cañada Loop course. 3. Senior Erik Farien leads the pack to the finish line. 4. Senior Bill Cunningham races on the Cañada Loop course. 5. The El Toro varsity cross country team comes on strong at the league finals, held at Saddleback College. 6. Head Coach Mike Waddell starts the varsity segment of the dual meet against University and Corona del Mar. 7. Varsity Cross Country — Top row: Erik Farien, Bill Cunningham, John Sarrao, David Marley. Second row: Ken McFadden, Mike Makens, and Spencer Allen.

Junior Varsity Is a Strong Group

This year's junior varsity cross country team ran well against their opponents. With some runners returning from last year's sophomore team, the j.v. squad was a shoe-in to do well, and they lived up to the preseason expectations. In preseason action, the team placed a strong second in the Dana Hills Invitational. Going into league play, the Chargers were ready for all opponents. Starting out in action versus University High School, the Chargers scored a 25-30 win. From then on, the El Toro team went on to a 6-1 Sea View League record. Their only loss came as a 28-27 heartbreak loss to Newport Harbor. The big win for the season was the 15-50 rout of Costa Mesa High School. In postseason activity, the junior varsity placed an excellent second at the Mount Sac Championships.

The junior varsity squad was paced by juniors Dave Marley and Frank Chiricosta, and seniors Chris Lotito, Bill Lowrance, and Gary Fisher. As for awards, at the banquet, Most Valuable Player award went to junior Dave Marley, and Most Improved Player went to senior Chris Lotito. All home races and meets were held on the Cañada Loop course.

Sophomore Cross Country Superior

The sophomore cross country team did an excellent job during the season past. The team started off the year with a good preseason, and then got ready for the upcoming Sea View League season. After an opening-meet setback loss to University High School, 44-17, the Charger team beared down and won the next two meets, against tough Corona del Mar and Costa Mesa. For the rest of the season, the sophomore team went two and two, ending the season with a 4-3 Sea View League record, good enough for fourth place.

The best runners for the year were sophomores Steve Adams and Rich Samanieago. At the awards ceremonies, Most Valuable Player was Steve Adams, and Coaches Award went to Rich Samaniego. Hopes are high for this team to become a strong junior varsity team.

Freshmen Do Well in First Season

This year's freshmen cross country team struggled with adversity during the season. After winning the frosh-soph division of the San Luis Obispo Invitational and taking second at the Dana Hills Invitational, the team struggled in league and wound up with a 2-5 record. Most Valuable Player was Craig Clarence, and Coaches Award went to Mark Morgan.

1. Chris Samaniego strives to catch up to an opponent from Corona del Mar High School, at a home duel meet on the Cañada Loop Course. 2. Basketball Works Opponents Over

The past season's sophomore basketball team started out strong, going 4-3 through the first half of the Sea View League season. Then the team met with adversity, finishing the season with a 6-8 overall record. The big win for the season was the 46-41 victory over the tough Newport Harbor Sailors at home. The coach was Mr. John Schroeder.

The junior varsity basketball team had a season mixed with success and failure. In preseason action, the squad won the consolation championship of the Loara Tournament. In Sea View League play, the team went 2-5 the first half. But a strong comeback lead the Chargers to a 7-7 record at the close of the season. The team was coached by Mr. Jeff Butler. The big win was the 51-50 upset over Corona del Mar at their gym.

1. Bob Summers drives for a lay-up versus Corona del Mar. 2. Junior Dave Chilton shoots a free throw. 3. Junior Craig Marking scores a jumpshot against Corona del Mar. Varsity Goes Into CIF Competition

The Charger varsity boys' basketball team had an excellant season during the past year. In preseason games, the El Toro varsity defeated both Laguna Hills and rival Mission Viejo, as well as becoming consolation champions of the Magnolia Tournament. As the varsity moved into Sea View League play, the Charger's first opponent was a rugged Saddleback team. The varsity won, 66-63, and set the stage for a great season. The Chargers went on to a 9-5 league record, and it was good enough for a well-deserved third place. This place was good enough to qualify the Chargers for a CIF play-off birth. The Chargers were ready for all opponents, but sufferred a disappointing first-round loss to a very game Foothill team, 68-45, at the victors' gym. The team was coached this past season By Mr. Dan Hair, assistant, and Mr. Tim Travers, head coach.

Wrestlers Pin 2nd Place in League

This year's varsity wrestling team overcame all factors that stood in their way for a successful season. After having a successful preseason, the varsity moved into the oncoming with confidence. In Sea View League play, the team had a record of 6-1, the only loss coming at the hands of Irvine, a perennial power. In total points, the Chargers had 12 overall, second only to Irvine, who had 14. The big win for the season was the 47-22 trouncing of Estancia. Numerous varsity players went on to the Sea View League play-offs, and to CIF competition. The team was coached by Mr. Bob Webber, who was head coach, and by his assistants, Mr. Al Jones and Mr. Jerry Jarrett.

1. Senior Tony Warn moves in to pin his opponent, during a match at El Toro High School. 2. Senior Bob Frick prepares to begin, as he straddles his opponent. 3. J.V. Wrestling Is Third in League

The junior varsity wrestling team put out an outstanding effort this past year. With some members returning, and having an outstanding crop of freshmen, the team got off to a good start, and finished Sea View League play with a record of 5-2, good enough for third place. The squad was coached by Mr. Al Jones and Mr. Jerry Jarrett.

Frosh-Soph Grabs Third Place Title

This year's frosh-soph wrestling team made giant strides of progress during the season. With few returning members, a bleak outlook was forecast in preseason, but the team responded with a 5-2 league record, good enough for third place in the Sea View League. The squad was coached by Mr. Bob Webber, Mr. Al Jones and Mr. Jerry Jarrett.

1. Chris Muklevicz is ready. 2. Jim Cates is in control. 3. Varsity Soccer Is Stubborn Opponent

Though the team did not compile a spectacular record, a force to be reckoned with was the '82-'83 varsity soccer team. With some returning lettermen, the team went into Sea View League play in a good state of mind. In the first half of a hard league schedule, the Charger varsity compiled a record of 3-3-1. Then the team met with adversity in the second half of league action. Many games were rained out. Some of the better players were Sean Camu, Chad Davis, Barry Stringer, and goalie Rick Gilbert.

1. Junior Rob Ryan steals an opponents' errant pass, during a home match at El Toro High School. 2. Sean Camu dribbles upfield versus Corona del Mar High School. 3. Teammates Sean Camu and Steve Williams combine their skills to move the ball towards the opponents' goal. 4. Junior Varsity Is League Champion

The junior varsity soccer team beat all challenges this past season. With a balanced scoring attack, the j.v. squad, after being tied with Estancia the week before the season ended, went on in that last week to secure the title. The big victory for the season was the 7-0 killing of Costa Mesa. The team was coached by Mr. Keith Osborn.

1. Barry Stringer heads the ball back to a teammate, during a home match on the El Toro field. 2. Carlos Ruiz nimbly steals the ball from an opponent from Corona del Mar High School. 3. Volleyball Preps for Future Years

The 1982-1983 Boys' Varsity Volleyball team started off the past season with confidence. With one returning varsity player and four previous-year j.v. players moving up, the team added a fine group of newcomers to prepare for the season. The season began on an off note, with losses to Mission Viejo and Mater Dei. But Coaches Mike Jagd and Jeff Butler were not disappointed, as the team asserted itself in later matches. Some of the better players were juniors Tim O'neil, B. J. Wilson, Jeff Horn, and Jeff Arnold, as well as senior Eric Darby. "The team has shown excellent progression over the early try-outs, and these young athletes are the volleyball champions of the future," says Coach Mike Jagd.

1. Junior B. J. Wilson tosses the ball up to serve, during the match versus Mission Viejo. 2. Junior Jeff Arnold puts home a spike between two Mission Viejo defenders. 3. JV's Start Out Powerful Season

The junior varsity volleyball team started this season strong, with convincing pre-season wins. With three returning players, the Chargers had a sturdy foundation from which to work from, while the crop of new players this year really contributed to round the team. Best players were junior Mike Jorgensen, sophomores Jason McVey, Pat Knopf, and freshmen Brian Thaxton and Greg Rosile. The coach for the team was Ms. Kim Poppa.

JV Golf Tees Off at Casa Del Sol

The junior varsity team, coached by Mr. Ed Felix, hoped to retain the title of league champion. The junior varsity team was led by the team captain sophomore Greg Nogle. This year's season started slow due to the heavy rains. The team was made up of two sophomores Greg Nogle, Curt Nogle, and Mike Owen. The remainder of the team was freshmen, Mike Bull, Jeb Berry, Dave Gonzales, Jim Sohl, Miguel Franco. Practices were held at Casta del Sol.

Varsity Golf Team Swings Into Action

The varsity golf team had a slow start this season due to the record breaking rains that swamped the golf courses. In his sixth year of coaching, Mr. Bob Bosanko was hopeful for his team's placement in league with the guidance of Team captain Dane Earley. This year's team was composed mainly of underclassmen with one junior and one senior. Returning lettermen of this year's team were senior Diane Earley, junior Byron Waddell, sophomores J. D. Wellman, Neil Gulley. Practices were held at Casta del Sol. Their two toughest matches were against Corona del Mar and Estancia.

10 Lettermen Lead Varsity to Title

Ten outstanding returning lettermen led the El Toro varsity swim team to another outstanding season. Coached by physics teacher Mr. Jeff Gross, the team captured the CIf Relays early in the swim season.

With two easy victories over Edison and Newport Harbor High Schools, 111-46 and 102-50, respectively, the team set its sights on another Sea View League Championship.

"This is a very deep team this year, with lots of talent. It could be the best team in El Toro history. This is a cohensive team led by All-American Craig Popp," commented Grosse.

Stoll Attempts to Win League Title

The swimming coach for this year's frosh/soph team was Mr. Don Stoll. He thought the team had a very good chance of coming in first in Sea View League, since they had already won the Fountain Valley relays and beat Edison 73-65. This season's outstanding players were Trey Atkins, David Knox, and Denny Bethke. The returning players were Brian Berneking, David Knox, Bart Meltzer and Matt Frazzetta. Their victories were attained due to their hard work and effort during practice, which was held two times a day.

1. Coach Don Stoll times swimmers as they jump off the starting blocks. 2. Freshman start morning practice with relays. 3. During practice David Knox swims the Butterfly relay. 4. Varsity Baseball Swings into Action

Varsity Baseball team showed vast improvement this year through many individual and team efforts. The team attitude was improved, there was an equal balance of skills, and many of the varsity players had played for two or three years before on the Frosh-Soph or Junior Varsity teams and knew the tricks to the trade. Outstanding players included pitcher Gary Pifer, pitcher and centerfield Doug Maher, and first baseman John Seeburger. Many of the players had multiple positions and often switched off during the games.

The team attended an Annual Easter Baseball Tournament during the spring break. There, they competed against other Varsity teams from California, Utah, Arizona, and Nevada. Awards were given at a team banquet that was held at the end of the year.

Hard Competition for JV Baseball

The junior varsity baseball team, coached by Mr. Bill Dickey, had a tremendous amount of potential players try out at the beginning of the season, as many as 125. Out of these, only 30 were selected to be on the team. Many were players who had been on the Frosh-Soph team the year before. Outstanding players included catcher Jeff Stilson, first baseman Kevin Stringer, second baseman Matt Luedecke, third baseman Keith Hatch, and starting pitchers Nick Adams, David Guest, and Jeff Duchateau. To award the players for their hardwork throughout the season, a Team Awards Banquet was held to finish off the year.

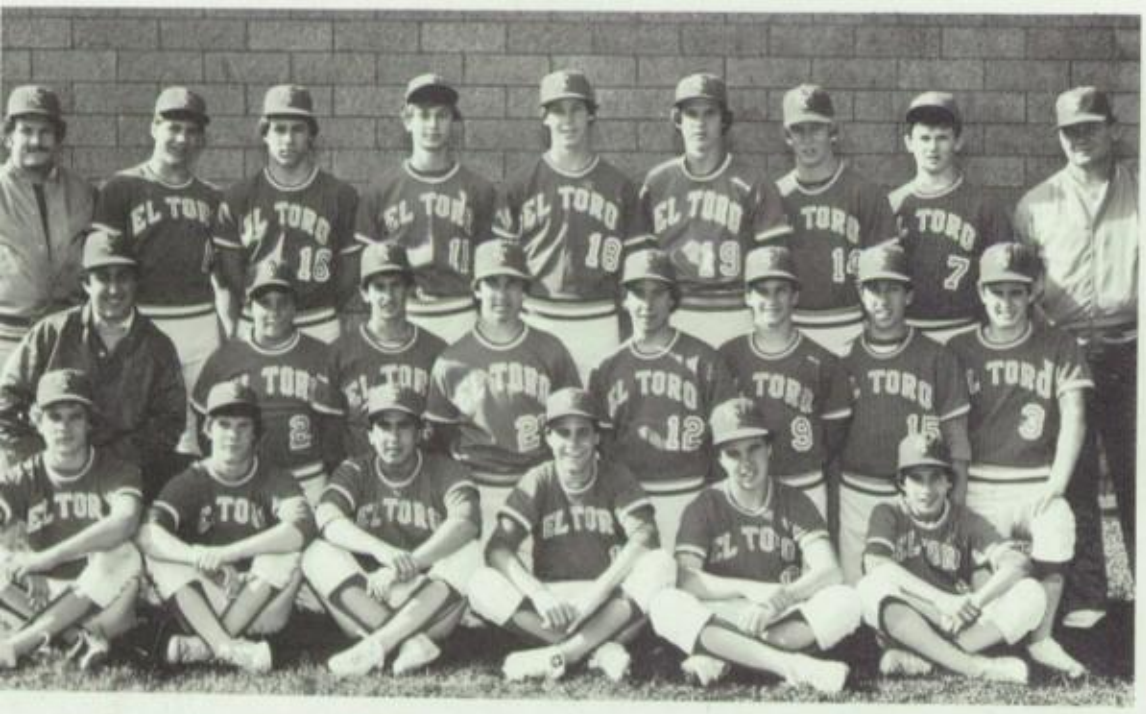
Barry Stringer covers first base. 5. Pitcher Greg Payne winds up for a pitch.



Varsity Track Races Skillfully

Varsity Track consisted of over twenty young athletes who pitted their athletic skills against their opponents. In spite of several early washouts, they started the season off with a victory over Fountain Valley High School.

Due to their outstanding performances, Bill Cunningham, Eric Farien, Spencer Allen, and Eric Anderson were able to comprise the distance core. Captain Blake Fennell, Captain Jerry Eldridge, Captain Mike McClain, Brian Fronk, and Bob Summers took care of sprinting and hurdling. Roger Leary, Rodney Gatlin, Louis Sergeant, and Tony Warn handled the field events throughout the season.

The daily practices consisted of massive amounts of stretching and many sprints. Because of the undying dedication all varsity track members put into the daily practice routines, they were able to end the season successfully.

Head Coach, Larry Nitta, and his assistant coaches Mr. Mike Wadell (distance), Mr. Dave Johnson (field events) and Mr. John Johansen (weight events) teamed up to lead the athletes to their numerous victories.

For the 1983 tennis season, Jeff Casey, Brian Babbitt, and Curt Armijo led the Frosh-Soph team. A "strong team," as called by Coach Travers, usually held their matches on Wednesdays and Fridays, with the exception of bad weather. During the matches, four single matches and two double matches were played, resulting in four sets per player. The team practiced every weekday from 2:00 to 4:30 p.m. Along with the other tennis levels, a banquet was held to award the deserving players.

1. Brian Babbitt follows through after a forehand shot. 2. John Mortenson finishes a backhand swing during afternoon practice on the courts. 3. Frosh-Soph Tennis Team — Top row: Tim Hsu, Robert Hinson, Mortenson, Brian Babbitt, Floyd Benjamin, Jeff Casey, Todd Forester, and John Hauschild. New Coach Leads Varsity Volleyball

The girls' varsity volleyball team ended with a fifth place finish in league and an 8-8 team record. The team adjusted well to their new coach, Mrs. Lori Borland. The fact that they did not go to CIF did not hamper the spirit and team unity.

Leading the team in their well put forth efforts were team captains, senior Tino Phillips and Mary Tritt. Phillips was also honored as MVP. The Coach's Award went to a dedicated, good all-around player, senior Kathleen Garvey. Senior Kim Wood received Most Improved.

The big win of the season was against cross-town rival Mission Viejo, 11-15, 15-10, 15-6, 15-6. According to Borland, "The team worked well together and our defense was good. Unfortunately, it was a year of injuries to key players, yet the team continued to unite and confront competition whole heartedly."

JV Volleyball Ends Sea View Slate 9-5

The junior varsity volleyball team finished fourth in league with a 9-5 record. Newport Harbor provided tough competition, but the team succeeded making it the biggest win of the season.

The co-captains were juniors Monique Brass and Shari Farrington. Brass was also honored as MVP. "She was aggressive in her position, also she boosted team spirit," said Ms. Virgin the team's coach. Junior Susan Okerlund received Coach's Award. According to Ms. Virgin, Okerlund could play any position. Sophomore Susan Czinczoll was awarded Most Improved.

1. Junior Shannon Bloch smashes the ball over the net, while Shari Farrington watches. 2. Junior Susan Okerlund concentrated heavily on her serve. 3. JV Girls' Cross Country Runs Wild

The junior varsity cross country team did exceptionally well this year. Their record of 5-2 earned them third place in the Sea View League. Led by a second place finish of Tiffany Golden and a third place finish of Tiffany Tucker, the biggest win of the year was a first place team finish at the Huntington Beach Invitational.

Sophomore Sheri Knox was named Most Valuable Runner. Coach's awards went to freshman Michelle Alexander and sophomore Heather Saxby. According to Coach Trish Pierson, Saxby was the spark plug of the team.

After the varsity team went on to the CIF preliminaries, two junior varsity runners, Knox and Alexander, were moved up. Throughout the season the team worked out two to three hours every day.

Varsity CC Runs Far in Competition

The girls' varsity cross country team finished the season in third place in the Sea View league with a 5-2 record. This allowed the team to continue to the CIF preliminaries where they placed fifth. The team, however, did not advance to the finals. Individually, freshman Nicole Biggers advanced to the CIF finals where she placed 13th overall. Major victories for the year were beating Irvine at league finals and winning the varsity sweepstakes at Mt. SAC Invitational.

The Most Valuable Runner was Biggers and the Most Improved Runner was Dawn Romero. Biggers set a course record at Irvine High School when the team travelled there for a tri-meet and she was also named the number one runner on the sophomore level at the Orange County Championships. Team Captain for the year was Junior Michelle Buck.

Workouts for the team were from 2:00 to 5:00 everyday. Home meets were held on the course just off the Cañada loop. The team was coached by Mrs. Diane Hale and Mrs. Trish Pierson.

Varsity Swimming Goes for League

The girls' varsity swim team lost a lot of last year's strong swimmers. With the combined effort of outstanding returning and new swimmers, the girls tried for their fifth consecutive league title. Mr. Grosse coached the girls during meets and their strenuous workouts. Morning and afternoon workouts, a total of five hours a day, proved to develop the talents of both new and old members. Kris Mink, Erica Wilson, Dana Barns, Stephanie Wong, Tricia Gillespie and Janet Williams were among the returning swimmers. Impressive freshmen, Pam Pyykko, Andrea Hackett, and Janet Popp helped to fill the gaps left by last year's seniors.

1. Stephanie Wong practices her freestyle. 2. Katy St. John warms up before workout. 3. Loyann Kuntz is ready to get out after a long afternoon practice. 4. Stephanie Wong puts on her swim gear. 5. JV Girls Swim in Co-ed Meets

Like the varsity and frosh-soph girls, the J.V. girls also worked-out with the boys. The J.V. girls went a step further and competed against other boys. This is not new to the members because the competition has been co-ed in the past. This circumstance is unique to the J.V. girls and does not make them feel any different.

1. Swimmers wait for directions from their coach. 2. Vivian Ricuarte and Tracey Wrightstone wait for workout to start. 3. Members of the team gather kick boards for practice. 4. Top row: Katy St. John, Eric Stamper, Betsy Schupp, and David Recht. Bottom row: Loyann Kuntz, Vivian Ricuarte, Eric Hone, Tracey Wrightstone, and Neil Korsgaard. 5. Vivian Ricuarte pulls smoothly through the water.

Frosh-Soph Girls Train to Triumph

The girls' frosh-soph swim team had a new coach, Kim Philpott. New swimmers comprised most of the team and according to Philpott, "they will improve by leaps and bounds and by the end of the year they will look like professional swimmers." The frosh-soph members were not required to come to morning workouts but a lot of them did. Some of the outstanding swimmers were Karen Nickle, backstroke; Danica Olen, all strokes; Jenny Richter, freestyle and fly; and Tiffani Moore, freestyle.

Chargers Ranked Among Top Three

El Toro's softball season got off to a slow start due to the storms that bombarded Southern California in early March. The varsity team, coached by Ms. Marcy Eckman and Mr. Paul Beidler, was comprised of 12 players including four freshman. Seven players returned from the previous year's team. A few of the outstanding prospects for 1983 were junior Peggy Callahan, senior Mary Tritt and senior Karen Stroup. According to Coach Beidler, El Toro ranked among the top three teams in league. "The great deal of talent in the freshmen combined with the experienced players will make El Toro a strong contender for the league title," commented Beidler.

1. First baseman Lisa Tamillo, a sophomore, makes the catch during a pre-season game. 2. Junior Peggy Callahan demonstrates her pitching technique during a practice. 3. Senior Karen Stroup gets ready to attempt the steal. 4. The 1983 Varsity team — Back row: Ali Gibson, Kim McGill, Caren Carlsson, Karen Stroup, Karen Robertson, Dawn Robertson, and Terri Focht. Front row: Lisa Tamillo, Laura Turnbow, Vicki Mallet, Peggy Callahan, and Mary Tritt. 5. Kim McGill, a senior, concentrates on the practice. 6. Senior Terri Focht leads off second base, preparing for the steal. 7. Karen Robertson, one of four freshman on the varsity team, warms up before a game. 8. During a practice, junior Caren Carlsson warms up her arm with a smile.

Yeck Leads JV Softball to Wins

A new coach, Mr. Greg Yeck, led the JV softball team into the 1983 season. The team held 13 players: two juniors, six sophomores, and five freshman. Coach Yeck commented on the fact that he was very impressed with the infield and felt that he had many outstanding player prospects. Some of these were Monique Brass, Kelly Decker, and Patty Forrest. Also, Yeck believed that his team would do very well in league. The Charger's toughest competition were the Irvine Vacqueros and the Estancia Eagles.

1. Daphne Schafer contemplates the steal during a pre-season game against the Saxons. 2. Junior Rebecca Martinez warms up her arm before a game. 3. Freshman Kathy Nickel concentrates on her pitch. 4. Sophomore, Yvette Hick strives her hardest to jump over the hurdles. 4. Freshman, Ann Donahoe and Jennifer Kolodny race to finish first and second while leaving behind the opponent Laguna Hills.

Girls' Track Team Finish Year Well

The 1982-83 Varsity track team, coached by Mr. Keith Osborn, ran competitively this season. Their daily practice routine, which was from two to four p.m., consisted of strength and endurance workouts of running, sprints and long distance. Many outstanding runners returned this year including captain, Jaimi McFarlin, co-captain, Tanya Ransom, Shari Farrington, Stephanie Adolphson and Nicole Biggers. Although, their losses did not hamper the team's enthusiasm, they finished well.

1. Senior, Jaimi McFarlin races towards the finish line. 2. Senior, Mary Flaherty speeds up to pass the baton. 3. Junior, Tanya Ransom ends the race with a first. 4. CLUBS

For ten years, El Toro has striven to meet the varying interests of its student body. By means of the nearly thirty clubs and organizations that have formed on campus over the years, this challenge has been welcomed with enthusiasm. A few things have changed since that first year in not only styles and numbers, but also, in the expanding interests of the students.

A common sight in 1973 was the familiar bell bottom jeans and long hair. El Toro High at that time was still living in Mission Viejo but rapidly the school began to take shape under the various clubs and organizations that were beginning to take root. The Key Club and the Keywannettes, then known as the Keyettes, were among the pioneers, along with the Pep Club. An extension group called Bienvenidos, a club welcoming foreign students, branched off of the American Field Service (AFS). The Outdoors Club covered almost every sports hobby from skiing to bicycling. One interesting organization called the Future Farmers of America (FFA) gives an indication of how undeveloped Saddleback Valley was in 1973. It was groups like these that started the ball rolling for future generations of students.

Today, diversity is a quality the students of El Toro High have mastered. Now, in straightleg died denim and numbering nearly 2800, their involvement has made a definite impact on school clubs and organizations. The pioneering groups such as Key Club, Keywannettes, and Pep Club have become traditions. The former Outdoors Club has been broken into a number of areas from surfing and skiing to sailing and hiking and backpacking. All three of El Toro's publications, the Amanecer, the Ole, and Touch Our World, have increased in size as well as importance. One of the newest groups on campus, the Computer Club, has made an attempt to bridge the gap between students and the growing world of technology. Each of these groups provides students with the chance to explore, not only the world around them, but also, the world within themselves.

1. Kaliedoscope was the name of the first talent show held on El Toro's campus back in 1973 as this program displays. 2. Varsity songleader Kelly Havens splits the night air with her amazing horizontal acrobatics. 3. Senior Todd Reinart explains the system of scoring used in bowling to his young companion during Key Club's bowling night with children from the Good Sheppard Home.

Formal Is Girls' League Production

The goal of this year's Girls' League was to achieve unity and friendship among the girls of El Toro High School. Included in this goal was the need to encourage co operation in school and group activities. With the help of their advisor, Ms. Pam Sisel, the girls planned and produced the annual winter formal, "A Winter's Dream." Much of the girls' own free time was spent figuring out details such as the best time and place to hold the event. Several club officers were elected, starting with Jennifer Walsh as president. Vice President Christine Watt, Recording Secretary Sandy Kim, Corresponding Secretary Susan Chapman, Treasurer Lynn Whitman, Communications Officer Joanne Benz, Activities Commissioner Shelly Brenner, and Publicity Chairwomen Jenny Lee and Kelly McElvogue made up the rest of the executive board. Almost every Wednesday, the Girls' League met in room 211 during lunch.

JV Cheer Root for Underclassmen

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders met the school year with confidence, for they had many fresh ideas and routines. During the summer, they attended a songleading and cheerleading camp at the University of California at San Diego. Also during the summer, the JV Cheerleaders met and practiced two hours a day. Under the direction of Ms. Patty Donovan, the J.V. Cheerleaders were responsible for many of the signs that appeared daily in the upper quad. In addition, they promoted spirit at Frosh-Soph and Junior Varsity sports events such as football and basketball. Along with the Varsity Cheerleaders and Songleaders, they participated in the snack-time rallies in the upper quad. During pep assemblies, they were seen rooting for their individual classes or doing a special routine in the center of the gym. Serving at team dinners or other junior varsity events were more of their many duties. The girls met every day during third period to discuss and make up new routines, and to get coordinated with others on their ideas. This active group of girls helped to make the underclassmen as spirited as the upperclassmen and encourage school unity throughout the year.

McFarlin Heads Varsity Cheer

The El Toro Varsity Cheerleaders, coached by Ms. Patty Donovan, attended and performed at all varsity football games to promote school spirit in the crowd and cheer our team to victory. They also cheered at other athletic games, such as basketball and water polo. Cheering at sports events was only a small part of the many activities that they took place in during the year. Other events included pep assemblies, snack rallies, club and team dinners, and open houses. The varsity cheerleaders had two major competitions in October, one of which was held in the Mission Viejo Mall. This competition was held against many other Saddleback and Capistrano District Schools, including our rival, Mission Viejo. In this competition, the cheerleaders won many awards. Following in November, the cheerleaders held a candy sale, along with the songleaders and J.V. cheerleaders. Head Varsity Cheerleader this year was Jaimi McFarlin.

Songleaders Show Spirit With Havens

The '82-'83 Songleaders arrived at the beginning of the school year full of new routines and ideas. During the summer, the Songleaders attended a camp at the California University of San Diego, where they competed against other schools from Southern California. They received second place in the general competition, as well as a superior award trophy. The hall decorations trophy was also awarded to the El Toro Songleaders. During campfires, a contest was held to determine the rowdiest schools, the prize being a spirit stick; the Songleaders won twice.

Every day during the summer, they met at the school to practice their routines for two hours. When school began, they attended and performed at all the varsity football and basketball games. In an October competition at the Mission Viejo Mall, the Songleaders placed first after being second to Capo. Valley for the two previous years.

Head Songleader this year was Kelly Havens and Ms. Patty Donovan was the advisor.

JROTC Students Train for Military

The Marine Corps Junior ROTC was headed this year by Lieutenant Colonel J. G. Flynn. The main purposes J.R.O.T.C. served were to develop informed and responsible citizens, strengthen character, and to help form a habit of self-discipline. Throughout the year, trips were scheduled to local military installations, such as the United States Navy or the United States Air Force. In April, they took a one week trip to Camp Pendelton for a military orientation. Commanding Officers of the group this year were Terrence Lew and Yvonne Tumblin. The Marine Corps Junior ROTC met daily, in room 906.

Pageantry Raises Spirit on Campus

This year, El Toro's spirit was represented by Pageantry which consisted of a flag and banner team and the Royal Blue Regime, a rifle corps. Their main function was to promote school spirit by performing in halftime shows at home football and basketball games throughout the year. They performed in parades, one of which being the Korean parade, held September 12. Pageantry competed with the band and drill team in numerous field competitions. Some of this year's highlights were the November 6 Lester Oaks Field Competition and Parade, the November 13 Mission Viejo Field Competition and Parade, and the December 12 South Gate Parade. The 1982-1983 Pageantry officers were sophomore Colleen Baker, captain; with juniors Cathy Bender and Peyton Grover acting as co-captains. Advised by Mrs. Mary Ann Farelli, pageantry met every morning, periods 1 and 2, and every Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5.

Chargettes March on for Perfect 10

Under the direction of Ms. Sue Haren, the Chargette Drill Team's main purpose was to perform in school and community activities. They performed in all the home football halftime shows and all Friday night basketball half-time shows. Drill Team also competed in numerous competitions with the Royal Blue Regime and Pageantry. Some of the major competitions were the Artesia Band Review, held October 9; the Lester Oaks Band Review and Field Show Competition, held November 6 in Riverside; and the California State Drill Team Competition, held in January in San Jose. Their major fundraiser this year was the Chargettes' annual Ice Cream Social which took place in December.

The Chargettes were led by senior Connie Frailey, captain; senior Kelly Morgan, co-captain; and three first lieutenants: senior Laura Rohr and juniors Tandi Giacomi and Amy Lawton. The Drill Team met every day from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., then again from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Berger Conducts ET Winning Band

Marching Band, directed by Ms. Pat Rainer, performed in a variety of shows and events. From August to September, they attended a band camp held here at El Toro. Starting in September, the Marching Band performed in all of the home football games' half-time shows. The highlights of the year included several parades and competitions. In September, the band attended and performed in the Korean Parade. Following in October, they performed in the Artesia Parade, and the El Modena Field Competition. There were four events that took place in November, the Lester Oaks Field Competition and Parade, Mission Viejo Field Competition, and the Long Beach All Western Parade. Another important event occurred in December, the South Gate Parade. The Marching Band also performed at all of the snack-time pep rallies and assemblies. Every morning, during first and second period, the band was seen practicing formations on the field by the track and marching in the parking lot. Senior Gary Berger served as the '82-'83 Drum Major.

Nickel and Johnson Head Sailing Club

The Sailing Club, advised by Mr. Dave Johnson, was an El Toro extension of a larger organization, the South Coast Sailing Team. The purpose was to provide a variety of boating activities to El Toro students. These included leisure sailing, competitive racing, seamanship instruction, extensive offshore cruising, and learning techniques included in sailing a square rigged vessel. Every Thursday and Saturday, weather permitting, the club met at the Youth Docks in Dana Point. On these days the students engaged in free sailing. During the summer, the club took three 4-6 day cruises to the Channel Islands. There was also a cruise to Ensenada. In September, they held the Youth Cruise to Catalina. The Sailing Club also had a sailing team called the Rendezvous team which competed at the Long Beach Rendezvous in November and the San Francisco Rendezvous in May. President this year was senior Dan Nickel.

Carlson and Staff Publish 10th Book

The Amanecer Staff, advised by Mr. Mike Gallups, produced the tenth El Toro High School Yearbook this year. Senior Carrie Carlson served as editor-in-chief and Don Hill was head photographer for the second year in a row. During the summer, Carrie Carlson, Gayle Denny, Domie Quintana, and Michelle Perin attended a week-long yearbook camp at Westmont College in Santa Barbara and came back to school with many new ideas. "The yearbook class did an excellent job of producing a high quality publication that reflects the efforts of numerous groups on campus,. It is a job for which the students receive little recognition but a lot of self-satisfaction," said Gallups.

1. Editor Carrie Carlson looks up from working on a layout at yearbook camp. 2. Activities Editor Sherri Sindle checks over her ideas for her section. 3. Clubs Editor Michelle Perin crops pictures for the Sailing Club as Girls' Sports Editor Stacy Oleson checks them. 4. Head Photographer Don Hill hands out an assignment to photographer J. D. Floyd. 5. Senior Section Editors Sharon Merritt and Ann Groepler check layouts as Paul Eiler watches with interest.

Zellhart, Ruffner Active in Key Club

The El Toro Key Club, directed by Mr. Bill Ruffner, has been an active club on campus since the school's beginning. Their sole purpose through the years has been to serve the community while promoting leadership among the members.

Every year the Key Club has a full agenda, and this year was no exception. In October, they constructed a haunted house for the March of Dimes. Following in November, the Key Club held the annual Donkey Basketball Game. Two events took place in December: the Canned Food Drive and working with the Special Olympics. Their final activities for the year occurred in April: the district convention in Sacramento and the Pancake Breakfast for Leisure World. Throughout the year, they worked with people from the Good Shepard Home at Lake Forest Lanes. President this year was Dave Zellhart.

Merritt and Runyon Lead Keywanettes

This year, the Keywanettes Club of El Toro had to start from the bottom and work its way up due to the young officers and the lack of members. Advisorless for the first two months of the year, the club started with less than 10 members, but through membership drives built itself up to a respectable 35 members. The club's main single service project for the year was Beverly Manor Convalescent Hospital.

Some of the highlights of the year were the October 30 Fall Rally, the October 27 Kewanis, Key Cliub — Keywanettes Introductory Pot Luck, and the seventh Annual Keywanette Convention, held the weekend of April 22-24 in San Diego at the La Bahia Hotel. The officers for the 1982-'83 year were junior Sharon Merritt, president; junior Stacey Runyon, vice-president; senior Stephanie Wong, secretary; sophomore Bridgit Nickel, treasurer; senior Tammy Rehart, Interclub Chairman; and junior Erin Jacoms, single service chairman. Their club met every Tuesday at lunch.

Schafer Edits Olé for Second Year

The Olé Staff, advised by Mr. Mike Gallups and edited by Michelle Schafer, published the monthly school newspaper, the Olé throughout the year. To support and finance the paper, the staff solicited ads to the surrounding community. They also held a fundraiser, selling Almond Roca and Peanut Butter Mountain Bars in December. In addition the staff assembled a seven minute video tape, which aired on channel 3 every Wednesday and Friday on TM Cablevision. This half-hour video tape included three other schools: San Clemente, Mission Viejo, and Capistrano Valley, which all put in 7 minutes to make up the half hour. Senior Terri Bartlome, Junior Christiana Jenny, and Sophomore Vickie Langhor were the page editors. Many hours of the staff's own time were spent after school pasting pages together and the staff met daily in room 314.

Svitenko's ASB Council Spirited

The '82-'83 Council was once again directed by Mr. Keith Sims. The members attended an A.S.B. camp at the University of California at Santa Barbara during the summer. There, they obtained ideas for activities and learned to work as a council unit. All of the assemblies, dances, spirit events, and even the spending of the school budgets were approved by the council.

Chamber Choir Sings 50 Concerts

The Chamber Choir, directed by Mr. Jerry Rouse, was one of the more active clubs on campus this year. They averaged 50 concerts, for different occasions and different types of groups. Two of the largest were the Holiday Concert in December and the Chamber Choir Concert in May. During the May Concert, the new members for the '83-'84 school year were introduced.

"Our purposes included performing for the school, parents, and community; entertaining; and bringing happiness to people through our music," stated Rouse. To be in Chamber Choir, one had to go through rigorous tryouts. Chamber Choir required not only the ability to sing, but also to dance and show personality on stage. This enabled the choir to do a variety of shows and provide entertainment for many different types of audiences.

The officers of Chamber Choir were President Robert Valdes, Vice-President Bill Berger, Soprano Section Leader Barbara Konyndyk, Alto Section Leader Cindy Stucker, Tenor Section Leader John DeBrincat, and Bass Section Leader Nick Pokryska.

The Chamber Choir practiced every day throughout the year during seventh period.

Stallcup and Kent Promote Pep Club

The Pep Club, advised by Mr. Randy Kent and headed by Kristen Stallcup, was the biggest and most productive in El Toro's 10 year history. The main purpose of the group was to promote school spirit and get the student body involved. They supported the pep squad, who in turn supported all athletic events. To build friendships was another goal of the club, and they attended and went crazy at many football and basketball games. Throughout the year, the club solicited spirit buttons and T-shirts to their fellow students. In October, they were in charge of the Goul-o-Gram sales.

1. President Kristen Stallcup and Denise Shore listen to another's view. 2. Mr. Keith Sims, Karen Seeberg, and Mindy Cherri lead the Pep Club meeting. 3. Wednesday Races for Auto Club

The El Toro Automobile Club's goal for 1982-'83 was to promote automotive interest through the members of the club. Even though they were officially called the Auto Club, they helped to promote anything that had to do with mechanics or movement, even activities such as biking or boating. Although the club did not meet regularly, most of the members had auto shop class during fifth period. During the year, a favorite activity of the members was to attend races and shows at the Orange County Raceway on Wednesday nights. Advisor of the Auto Club was Mr. Durward Fowler, and president was Rudy Koscak.

CSF for Students With 3.5 GPA

CSF was an honorary club reserved for the students who had maintained a 3.5 or better grade average throughout the year. To become a member, the students were required to fill out an application each semester. They were admitted into the club based on their grades from the previous semester. Seniors who had been in CSF for seven semesters received a special seal on their diploma and graduated at the top of the class known as "Seal Bearers." The sole purpose of CSF was to promote and recognize academic excellence of students here at El Toro. Mr. Tom Barnes was the club's advisor for the '82-'83 school year.

Phan, Le Promote Foreign Culture

Every Wednesday at the beginning of lunch the two co-presidents, Oanh Phan and Melanie Le, were seen calling together a meeting on the International Club in room 312. The club had three advisors, Ms. Hotchkiss, Mrs. Denny, and Mrs. Barry. The main function of this group was to introduce international traditions and cultures to each other through the members with foreign backrounds.

In November, the International Club held a "Hello" party, followed in December by the Christmas party. During Open House, they served international foods which doubled as a fundraiser. Also as a fundraiser, they held a car wash. To round out the year, the members chose their favorite beach and had a beach party.

1. International Club — Front row: Melanie Le, Oanh Phan, Negin Varasteh, Gloria Yang, and Frederique Lamber. 3 Choirs Entertain El Toro Community

The Charger Choir, Concert Choir, and Concert Treble Choir, directed by Mr. Jerry Rouse, held many performances during the year. Together they had an enjoyable time singing, entertaining the school and community, learning more about the music with which they were involved, and developing their individual talents for profit or pleasure later in life. Although they held numerous concerts for various groups and activities, their main events for the year started with the Holiday Concert in December, during which they performed for family and friends. The Charger Choir Concert followed a few months later in April, and soon after both the Concert and Concert Treble Choirs gave their own concert. To round out the year, all three choirs performed in the annual show at the Anaheim Convention Center.

For second period Charger Choir, the officers included President Nika Shoemaker, Vice President Shale Ming, Soprano Section Leader Melissa Marchion, Alto Section Leader Chris DiBattista, and Men Section Leader Doug Berger. Third period Charger Choir also had many officers, which included President Beth Vinas, Vice President Terry Terlaje, Soprano Section Leader Cathlin DeRosa, Alto Section Leader Andrea Fisher, and Men Section Leader Jeff Pearson. President Barbara Konyndyk lead the Concert Choir, along with Vice President Lynn Russ, Soprano Section Leaders Lisa Klein and Tabby Hird, Alto Section Leader Cindy Rosser, Tenor Section Leader Lee Sage, and Bass Section Leader Steve Nahrstadt. Christmas Events: Es War Toll!

The German Club, under the advisorship of Mrs. Jerome, helped to promote an understanding of the complex German culture and the many German traditions. They met faithfully every Monday, discussing topics pertaining to anything German, including the German language and German food. They had several activities during the course of the year, starting with a field trip to an Oktoberfest festival in October. An open house was held in November during a lunchtime meeting, and the members sampled many examples of German cooking. Following in December, the German Club held a Christmas Evening, during which they sang Christmas carols, ate German desserts, and even were visited by Santa Claus. Their next activity occurred in February, when they visited the Phoenix Club for the "Fasching Celebration." To round out the school year, the German Club held an end of the Year Banquet at a German restaurant. Also during the year, they attended other off-campus events.

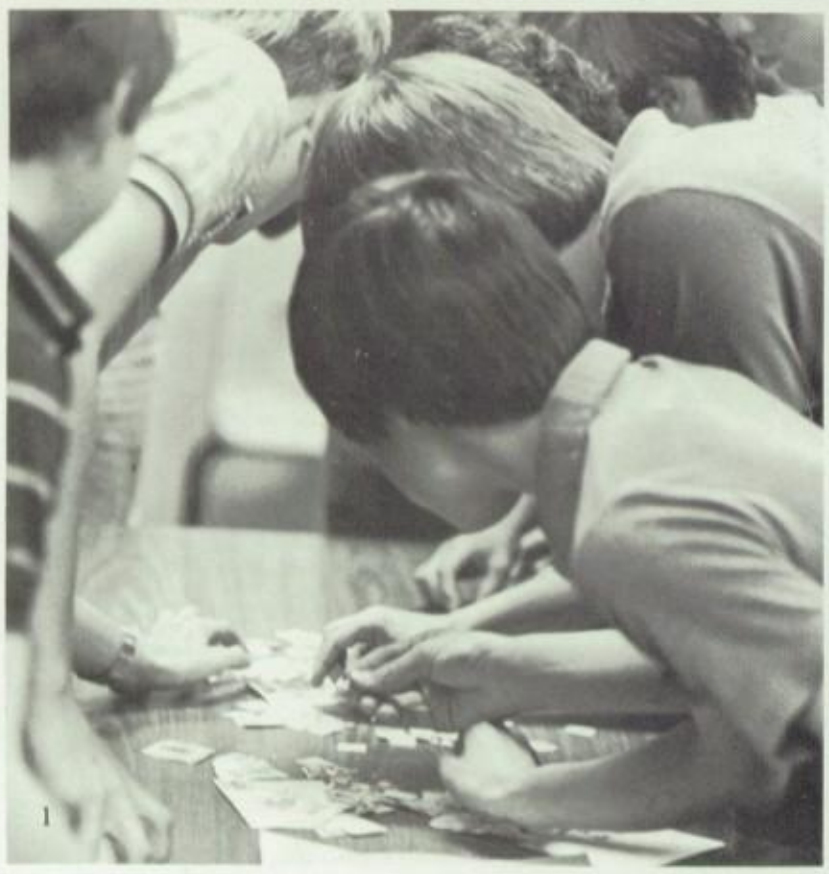
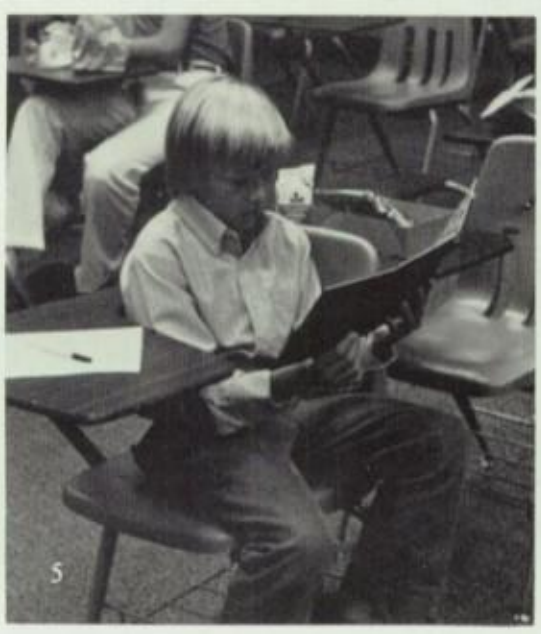
Anything Goes for Collectibles Club

Last year's Coin and Stamp Club expanded its horizons for the '82-'83 school year, by becoming the Coin, Stamp, and Collectibles Club. Not only did they deal with coins and stamps, but anything else collectible, such as dolls or baseball cards. The Club's two advisors, Mr. Chuck Vicker and Mr. Jerry Miller, held weekly meeting every Wednesday during lunch.

The club members learned the purpose for collecting their individual items, which ranged from personal enjoyment to investments. They also learned what was worth collecting in their field and how to go about doing it.

Two field trips were taken during the year: the Baseball Card Show in November and the Coin and Stamp Exposition in December. Chas Escalante served as president, Mark Petrash was vice president, and Matt Petrash served as both treasurer and secretary.





1. Club members sort out collectible stamps. 2. Trading baseball cards becomes a favorite activity among collectors. 3. Kristy Chadwick glances up from taking notes from the guest speaker. 4. Jazz, Orchestra Enlighten Students

The Orchestra and the Jazz Band, both directed by Ms. Pat Rainer, helped to give the students a better understanding of the music with which they were involved. Both groups performed many times during the course of the year.

The Jazz Band kicked off the year by performing in October for the Back to School Night. In December, they were seen performing in the Mission Viejo Mall, followed the next day by another performance, the annual Holiday Concert. In January, they participated in the Mission Viejo Jazz Festival, and in February they were invited to play at Phillips Pontiac. Two events occurred in April, the annual performance at the Anaheim Convention Center and the Torrance Jazz Festival. May was a busy month also, with the Corona and Burbank Jazz Festivals and the Spring Concert. To wrap up the school year, there was an Instrumental Awards Banquet, at students who showed improvement and achievement in certain areas were awarded.

The Orchestra lived by a different schedule than that of the Jazz Band. Some of the events were at the same date and time, however, such as the concert at the Mission Viejo Mall and the Holiday Concert, both in December. Also in December, the orchestra performed at the Faculty Christmas Party. The whole month of March was spent on the musical, Carousel. Following the musical came the Anaheim Convention Center Concert in April and the Spring Concert in May. Both the Jazz Band and the Orchestra also attended and performed at many events during the course of the year.

Drama Club Visits Community Theatres

The Drama Club, officially known as the First Nighters, was coached and directed by Mrs. Carol Stanfield. Through visiting various shows at community theatres, they explored and experienced the different types of theater.

In October, the First Nighters attended and participated in a Club Fair. Following in November, there was the Drama Reception. Throughout the year they attended many of the shows put on at Saddleback Community College such as Blithe Spirit, West Side Story, and James and the Giant Peach. The members were also encouraged to see the two shows put on by El Toro: I remember Mama and Carousel. Steadily through the year the First Nighters met on Wednesdays during lunch in room 704 to discuss upcoming events.

1. The First Nighters — Front row: Vice President Manfred Kuhnert, Treasurer Sarah Hunter, Chris DiBattista, Scott Liebold, Mia Gaspora, Dawn Lee, and President Julie Stenger. Second row: Chad Martin, Tiffany Reinoehl, Anissa Morgan, Suzanie Craig, Andrea Fisher, Tracy Fannin, Pamela Fisher, and Tammy Brown. Top row: Carol Stanfield, Liana Dunlap, Spence Hruska, Shannon McCleerey, Lisa Vigil, Johnny Craig, Rachel Howard, Cheryl Montroy, Bob Brandenburg, Amber Seitz, Kristen Thomas, Dana Valentine,and Ben Field. 2. Senior President Julie Stenger condusts a lunchtime meeting of the First Nighters as Junior Manfred Kuhnert prepares to speak next. 3. Advisor Carol Stanfield speaks about their next trip to Saddleback College. 4. Drama club members listen carefully to plans for their next event. 5. A few of the local mimes from the drama club and classes pose for a quick click of the camera's shutter.

Conyers Arranges 3 Annual Concerts

Under the direction of Mrs. Carol Mitchell, the El Toro Dance Production produced two of their own shows this year, "Dance Carousel '82', a children's concert, and "Dance Synthesized," the spring concert. Also during the course of the year, they entered two dances in the Fountain Valley Choreographer's Concert — a toe and jazz dance and a variety dance with a clown-related theme. A number of small study dances were done in class to help to broaden the students' idea spectrum and improve choreography skills.

The main focus of the year was on new types of choreography, the invention of new dance moves and incorporating them into a variety of dances for all three concerts. As a special bonus to bring the group together, each member had a secret pal, to whom each gave small notes and gifts. The secret pals' identities were revealed at the annual Christmas Party. Dance Manager this year was Michele Conyers.

Intermediate Dance Does Own Concert

Carol Mitchell's Intermediate Dance this year was very active. Their purpose, as in the past years, was to introduce the dances to better choreography skills as well as up their skill levels in ballet, jazz, modern, and tap dance forms.

In November, the dancers assisted the Dance Production and Baseball Team's fundraiser by helping to sell Christmas trees. Following in January, the Intermediate Dance Students put together their own concert. The dances worked many hours in both the dance room and Charger Hall in preparation for the concert. As a semester final, the dancers choreographed more dances that were used as a try out for the Spring Concert. Daily during third period the dancers met to practice on a new assignment.

1. Marla Setting performs her small class study dance for a grade. 2. Linda Draper follows along in a dance routine as Shawn Sorensen begins to participate also. 3. Celeste Reineck practices during classtime. 4. Intermediate Dance — Front row: Jill McLaughlin, Tracy Fannin, Regina Rololi, Marla Setting, Kristina Abbatecola, Mia Moorhead,Keri Johnson, and Charlene Watkins. Second row: Laura Mansour, Shelagh Heaney, Kristi Reed, Kelly Benedict, Courtney Lorenz, Julie Sidur, Celeste Reineck, and Judy James. Top row: Linda Draper, Kim Bauer, Debbie Nokes, Shawn Sorensen, Jamie Bramlett, Mary Bell, Shannon Woodson, and Natalie Nicol.

Dance Produces Folk Festival

Beginning Dance for '82-'83 was directed by Mrs. Carol Mitchell. Throughout the year, the dancers were introduced to a variety of dance forms: ballet, folk, jazz, tap, and modern. Their main event for the year occurred in November; the International Folk Dance Festival, during which the dancers performed a variety of folk dances from foreign countries. In preparation for the concert, they put together notebooks about the country their dance was from, and displayed tables and authentic costumes. Also during the year, the dancers performed small study dances to improve their skills and introduce them to choreography.

Hiking Club Offers Nature to Students

Under the advisorship of Mr. Dick McDowell, the Hiking and Backpacking Club helped to promote what the outdoors had to offer to those interested in the sport of hiking. President Mark Marley and Mr. McDowell led the members on five separate hikes during the course of the year. Starting in October, they hiked 13 miles to the top of Mount Baldy, which was 10,040 feet high. The Santa Ana Mountains Hike, which took place in November, preceeded the 18 mile hike to the top of Saddleback in December. Then, in January, the members held a desert campout. Lastly, to add to their list of accomplishments, they hiked to the top of Mount San Jacinto, the biggest hike of the year where they stayed overnight. Meetings of the Hiking and Backpacking Club was held on the first Monday of every month, or whenever deemed necessary, in room 409.

1. During the hike to Mount Baldy, Jodi Schulz, Bruce Marley, Mr. McDowell, Min Kim, Mark Erdie, Mrs. McDowell, Jennifer Coil, and John Latimer pose for a quick snapshot, taken by one of the hikers. 2. Robert Atkins listens to details on the hike to the top of Saddleback Mountain. 3. Hiker Jennifer Coil listens to the response of her question asked about one of the hikes. 4. Hiking and Backpacking — Front row: Jennifer Coil, Roy Shaghaghi, and Nazi Namazi. Top row: Mr. Dick McDowell, Matt Hill, David Hauxhurst, Mark Erdei, Frank Galarza, and Robert Atkins.

Surf's Up for 7 Different Contests

The Surf Club, headed by Mr. Larry Olin, promoted the sport of surfing among students here at El Toro. The club was actually a two-part club, one half was in it for the fun of surfing and the other half were in actuality a twelve member surfing team that competed in numerous surfing competitions. There were two parts to the team, "A" and "B"; members of the team were grouped according to their ability and experience as a surfer. The team participated in three open contests and four exclusively against other schools. The whole club took a total of five monthly trips to various beaches. Throughout the year, President Tim Hogan and Vice President Darren Beeson, along with advisor Mr. Olin, called weekly meetings in room 602.

CLASSES

For the past ten years, thousands of students have walked through the gates of El Toro high. Presently, the student body has grown to a cramped number of nearly 2800 people. As the population boomed, the unity of spirit and participation, and the struggle to survive a grueling schedule intensified in all levels.

Freshmen students were faced with an element of the unknown their first year. Unaccustomed to the different surroundings, they tended to keep a low profile at the start of the year. However, their class spirit has been on the rise ever since. In addition to mustering up spirit, they were confronted with a variety of classes such as World Cultures, English I or Honors English I, a math class, and a choice of two electives. For most this was where the challenge began.

By their sophomore year, most students have moved into the mainstream of high school life as they became more familiar with the campus and its activities. This year, sophomores found it easier to gain confidence and raise their spirit to a full roar. With confidence on their side, handling their required classes wasn't too difficult a task.

Junior students, in their third year, were faced with difficult decisions dealing with the future. Most students planned their schedules to prepare for this. College prep classes included American Literature, Advanced Composition, Algebra II, and a long list of others. For those students preparing for the job market, classes such as shorthand and typing were offered. For the juniors this was a year of choices.

The senior year is the wrapping up of all high school experiences. For this class, it was an activity filled year. From baby Day to taking the S.A.T. and Homecoming to Graduation, all will not be forgotten.

1. The traditional senior class picture had its beginning with the first graduating class, as pictured here. 2. An enthusiastic group of people can't resist the opportunity for a picture session. 3. Senior Deanne Lykins struggles to understand a lecture in Chemistry.

'83 Senior Babies Win Spirit Week

Like a phoenix rising from the flames, the class of 1983 burst out of its weak shell and became the class to beat in spirit.

From the beginning of the year, the seniors blew away the meek freshmen and unanimated juniors. The only real competition came from the sophomore class which maintained a group of over 700 while the seniors only had a class count of 601.

During the Spirit Week activities, the senior class proved they had risen from the flames. Under the leadership of a group of distinguished seniors, President Brian Fronk, Vice President Kelly Havens, Secretary Stella Kim, and Treasurer Kim DiIorio and under the supervision of Mr. Bob Bosanko and Mrs. Carol Jaus, the class of 1983 truly earned the right to call themselves number one.

Jerry Toni I LOVE YOU SO MUCH and if it wasn't for you Sweetie, I probably never would have made it. XOXO I'll love you forever. Annie, I love ya and I can't wait for more summers at the beach (Quarters). To all of the people still at school GOOD LUCK its not that hard. Well, we finally made it through #1 more high

To all friends-A hug + [illegible]
Each smile given and "Hi" in the hallway made each day special. I love you all!
Lisa B.-We've had some wacko times these past 6 yrs: the at. cabin, you learning how to drive stick (and just plan how to drive-ha) and how can I ever forget camp! Thanx for the rag. Karen-We've shared so much laughter. "You want them to walk" SF was great, and so were the Aussies. Remeber doubling to the Prom? Angel games? Of course there were rough times but they made are friendships stronger. Most importantly, I wish you good luck & success in Paris. Wow, Cosmo at 16!
Lisa C.-So you like my last name, uh? Lucky for me. I don't know what I would have done without you. I'll always be grateful for your friendship. Thru the laughter & the tears you were there. You are one terrific person. So inalghtful! So sly-if you know what I mean? It'll be great at UCSD. There is stillso much to look forward to.
Kim-You are the best "best friend" in the whole world. You're my 2nd soul. I don't even know why I'm writing this cus we can read each others minds anyway. Time & distance are to weak to separte us. Remember Jr. High rah-rahs, life in El Toro. What a super summer-watch out So. Ca. here we come. Wild times w/Joe-pretty freaky: You are in my heart forever I love you dear friend.
Swensen's gang-You are the best group of people to work with anywhere. What pals! What fun! I wish you all the best of luck in the future. Stay wild & crazy.
Alan-my 1st love, my endless love-So many memories: Swensen's May 22, Pines Park Sept. 12, moonlit beaches, your terrific dinner, Homecomings, Formals, Christmas, Elvis songs, Omar at the Mall, letters, flowers, & every moment together... It all reminds me of the same thing...How much I LOVE YOU! S.B. A.G. G.C. K.B. D.F. P.B. T.R.- I'll miss you!!!

MOM- you have watched me grow in all areas of my life. Whenever I fell down, you were there to pick me up. The years have not always been pleasant, but somehow we always make it. I will never be able to express my love and concern for you. THANKS!
DAD- The hardest times were when you were gone. Although you didn't always see me, I know you always loved me. I have alot to thank you for. You started my ambitions in photography. You have helped me whenever you could and I appreciate it. We have taveled together alot (from the "hill" to "kansas"). It has been exciting for me to watch you grow (from officer friendly to Lieutenant)! I LOVE YOU VERY MUCH!
MARY-You are the best sister anybody could dream of having. I can honestly say that you are my bes friend. (not to mention my only sister!) Whenever I have a problem, you are there by my side waiting to help me I LOVE YOU!!!
P.S. T-Bone and Shady love me the most!!!!!!!!
DANNY (HAIR)-I remember you at Los Alisos (you must be really old now! HA! HA!) You have bee a friend in a special way. Thanks for opening your door to my friends and I during the rain. Take care of your famil; your future is unknown but the result will be for the best!! GOOD LUCK!!!
BILL-You are a good friend . It has been exciting watching you grow. Ihope our friendship will continue to grow. Good Luck at El Toro
DON AND GUY- You are 2 good friends THANKS!

To all my dear friends that have made my past 2 years at El toro. memorable.
You all have contributed so much to my happiness. It makes moving to El Toro, great fun. Its really been an experience having so many people care and help me in times of need. I wish you all the best and hope to see you after our long awaited Graduation. Tracy: Its been a long 9 years, but we've both made it through. There's nothing like having a friend like you, my second sister. We've been through many hard times together. Your the best and I love you. Erik: My first love. Well things haven't gone that well lately, but I still cherish the times we've been together. You still mean the world to me and I'll never forget you! Kim: Don't worry you won't be lost next year, you've got alot of good friends take care, your really special. Angels : Well I didn't make it to UCLA maybe in a couple years. You'll like it. Henry's, P.E., Algebra, and parties, what a combination but they all were great fun. Denice: I haven't known you long but we've become good friends in this time. Let's get more things going and have some of our girl nights. I'm really not that bad of a driver, I just think I had to much bread!! Leah: Hope you have a great 4 years at high school. Make the best of it and hope you never have to take Am. Lit. Ya know, I'm not forced to say hi to you, I do it because I Love You. To My Parents! Thanks for understanding and putting up with me for 17 years. There's nothing I could have done without you! You have my love forever and ever.
Well It's been great and we've all survived. We're the best damn Babies around. Let's never forget Tracy's party and Baby Day.

Well, we can't believe it's finally here..Graduation! Looking back we'd like to say thanks to all those who made our time here so special.
KIRSTEN STALLCUP & CHRIS BUCKLEY - thanks for all the fun times in Bell Choir.
CHRISTINE WATT & STELLA KIM - thanks for your friendship.
JULIE STENGER - always remember that Irish & Norwegian are not the same.
KIRSTA TIERNEY - make sure to always wear a turtle neck on test days.
CAROL GRISAFE & NATALIE KAUSCH - always eat the inside of an Oreo first.
MANFRED - thanks for being the best Chamber partner a girl ever had.
JEFF KUELLER - in the future, remember to sign birthday cards before leaving the house and that the rain in Spain falls mainly down the DRAIN.
STEVE CITTY - don't forget that even Emily Dickinson and Laura Ingalls Wilder had their moments.
BRENT -remember Wilbur in Algebra I and make sure your fields are plowed at least once a week.
BAND - thanks for 4 good years...have confidence, you're the best.
CONCERT CHOIR - you guys are terrific. Keep up with the good work.
Last, but certainly not least, MR. ROUSE - thank you for giving us both the chance to be part of such a special group. Choir, especially Chamber, has given us so many memories that we'll cherish for the rest of our lives. Thank you very much, you are so special to us.
To all those others we didn't mention, thank you for some of the best years of our lives.

Kirk Konyndyk and Lynn Russ

Juniors Stage 50's Festival for Spirit

Once again the junior class made a good showing during spirit week. The class of 84 dressed in traditional fifties costumes. At lunch they held a sock hop in the upper quad. They also sponsored the prom which was held at the Queen Mary. Class officers for the year were Wade Kirk, President; Celeste Reineck, vice president; Courtney Lorenz, secretary; and Faustino Cortina, treasurer. They were advised by Marsha Daerr, Charla Rayl, and Jay Rayl.

The sophomore class officers for the year 1982-1983 were President Sam Svitenko, Vice President Wendy Roehricht, Secretary Kristi Reed, and Treasurer Kei Sellers. The advisors were Ms. Patty Donavan and Mr. Jim Sheilds.

During Spirit Week the sophomore class dressed up as students of the sixties. They brought the era back to life for one day. During that week on Field Day, the sophomores held second place over all in the class events.

This year the sophomores once again teamed up with the freshmen and arranged the Sadie Hawkins Dance. It was held on March 11, 1983 in the school gymnasium.

As a going away present the sophomore class sold carnations for the graduating seniors in the school.

Class of '86 Hits New Record of 780

This year the class of 86 was the largest in the ten year history of El Toro High with a student body of 780. The freshmen showed their spirit by dressing as senior citizens for Spirit Week. During lunch, bingo numbers could be heard over the lower quad from the freshmen bingo game.

Freshmen ASB officers elected this year were Chieko Woods, President; Tracy Puckett, Vice President; Kristen Farrell, Secretary; and Daphne Schafer for Treasurer. The freshmen class advisors were Mr. Mike Waddell, and Mrs. Diane Hockersmith. The freshmen also sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance which was held on March 12, and was a big success. The participation given by the freshmen made the entire year more prosperous.

1. Mr. Bob Bosanko jokingly handles the discipline problem with Kevin Lizarraga. 2. Pat Henshall and Tony Goss enjoy their lunches. 3. Diedre Silverthorne looks over the top of her bifocals in the quad, dressed as a senior citizen. 4. The four freshmen ASB officers; President Chieko Woods, Vice President Tracy Puckett, Secretary Kristin Farrell, and Treasurer Daphne Schafer. 5. Kristen Farrell carefully runs the flipper race during spirit week. 6. Kathy Won shows her spirit by dressing for spirit week. 7. Kim Haas claims her team is number one. 8. Freshman girls stop for a quick shot during P.E. 9. Chris Samaniego skillfully runs the obstacle course for spirit day.

DEDICATEE
DEDICATEE

Proud traditions never faulter; they withstand the test o time. The dedication of the Amanecer each year for the pas decade has remained one of the proudest traditions at El Tor High School. Since the first yearbook was published in 1974, nin dedications have been awarded to: Mr. Bob Bosanko, principa (1974); Mr. Donald Gaines, plant foreman (1975); Mr. Herma Schmidt, principal (1976); Mr. Bill Ruffner, counselor (1977) Mrs. Cindy Kingman, librarian (1978); Mr. Richard Sianez an Mrs. Shirley Wardman, custodians (1979); Mr. Al Desmarias English teacher (1980); Mr. Tim Allen, assistant principa (1981); and Mrs. Freda Gully, English teacher (1982). Eac dedicatee was chosen on the basis of his or her knowledge of thei work, the respect given by their peers, and interest taken with th welfare of the student above and beyond daily proceeding Choosing one person who fits this criteria has long been the tas taken up by the Amanecer staff and each year the decisio becomes harder to make. However, after toil and debate, it wa unanimously agreed upon that the tenth dedication of 1982-198 Amanecer would go to Ms. Lynn Lucas.

au / eau similar to 'o' in 'mole' — pâté, restaurant

e is variable, depending on its position, and what letters follow:

— on its own, it is like 'a' in 'about' — le, se, ne

— when followed by two consonants not including 'm' or 'n' it is like 'e' in 'get' — destination

— when found between two consonants it is sometimes swallowed or elided — mad(e)moiselle

— at the end of a word it is often not pronounced — douch(e), orang(e)

— er, ez, et, ere similar to 'ay' in 'payment' — aller, voulez, billet

è similar to 'e' in 'them' — crème, vous êtes

PASSAGE PROTEGÉ

1. Ms. Lucas proudly displays her precious treasure, Tom Selleck. 2. Freshman John Bartz discovers his mistake with dismay after the assistance from his French I teacher, Ms. Lucas.

Going above and beyond her usual job has become something of second nature to Ms. Lucas. When the school first opened she alone pioneered El Toro High's American Field Service (AFS), a program designed to give students the chance to experience cultures around the world. The part she plays in this is no meager one by far. For a minimum of 5 hours per week, Ms. Lucas sets up interviews with families of prospective students, attending each one. In addition, she is a member of the panel that conducts the student interviews.

Though these things are only a fraction of the responsibilities she is faced with, it is obvious Ms. Lucas is a quality member of the staff at El Toro High. The Amanecer staff is greatly honored to dedicate this tenth anniversary yearbook to such a fine person.

ET Administration Provides Quality

The primary purpose of the administration was to provide a climate in which quality teaching and learning can take place. A lot of planning and wisdom was required on the part of the administration.

"The fact that our product, the graduates of ETHS, has done so well is a tribute to all the staff, including the administration," said Principal Don Walker.

Following each administrator's name is his job and the high school he attended. 1. Tom Godley — Asst. Principal; George Washington H.S, San Francisco 2. Faculty Faces Larger Classes

In the fall of 1982, the faculty was faced with the task of educating a large student body. The classes were filled to the maximum capacity, and the challenge was laid out for each teacher. For some veterans, the scene was familiar. However, a few rookies walked onto the field, the El Toro campus. The student teachers were assigned to various faculty members who helped them in a time of need, answered any questions they might have had, and evaluated them on their ability to teach. The combination of the student teachers and the experienced teachers gave El Toro the variety of education needed.

Veterans Help to Make El Toro

Since 1973, when El Toro High School first opened, the school has gone through many changes. We, the Amanacer staff, would like to bring notice to the Administration, counselors, faculty, secretaries and maintenance staff who have been at El Toro from the beginning. These "Veterans" have seen El Toro grow and change into a leading school within the Saddleback Valley. Listed below are the names of people who have been dedicated to the school for the past 10 years.

Secretarial Pool Benefits Faculty

The 1982-83 secretarial and maintenance staff was a great benefit to administrators, teachers, and students. A few of their duties included filing, registering, changing classes, and cleaning the campus and classrooms. While each person had his own responsibilities, they all worked together to create a pleasant atmosphere in the office and on the campus.

The economy has been in a poor state. Jobs have become scarce for everyone and for those without an education the outlook has been even grimmer. Tuition on most colleges campuses has skyrocketed and cut backs in federal financial aid have been devastating. With these realities, academic achievement has become a means of survival for the high school student. Classes offered on campus for both the career and college oriented have given students the chance to get ahead in the game.

These courses include the Advanced Placement classes in U.S. History and Honors classes in math, science, and English. Here, students are given a more indepth view into each subject and are prepared for the college Advanced Placements Tests. Top students selected from these classes went on to compete in the annual Orange County Academic Decathalon. A few other programs include the Coastline Regional Occupation Program (C.R.O.P.), the grant profect. "Getting to Know You," Peer Facilitators, and the Teacher's Assistance Program (T.A.P.).

The Coastline Regional Occupation Program, designed for the career oriented student, offers the chance to explore a wide variety of occupations through on-the-job training. The grant project "Getting to Know You," is aimed at giving world cultures students exposure to the different roles cultures play in society while promoting interaction between them. The Peer Facilitators, a counseling center extension group, helps maintain good mental awareness throughout the schools in the area including El Toro itself. Finally, the Teacher's Assistance Program (T.A.P.) provides tuitoring assistance through a group of trained students.

Each of these classes and programs has been an asset to the high school students plan to get ahead.

1. Senior Lisa Basiak tries with determination to explain the answer to her given question at the annual Orange County Academic Decathalon. 2. Working diligently, senior Susan Tanner forms her thoughts on paper in response to the question asked her at the Academic Decathalon.

CROP Provides a Variety of Classes

The Coastline Regional Occupational Program, was an occupational training program that was designed to provide students with the basic knowledge required for a particular job, plus on-the-job training in local-businesses and industries. CROP classes were available within the five school district region. There was a wide variety of classes offered, ranging from airlines transportation to welding occupations. CROP was open to any high school student sixteen years of age by the completion of the semester. Cabinetmaking and wordprocessing classes were held on campus for those students who wished to gain knowledge in those areas. Students earned from five to fifteen credits per semester depending on the time spent in the program. With successful completion of the class a student received a Certificate of Participation and possibly a Letter of Recommendation.

Mrs. Sue Gast was the new manager for the CROP program. Her job was to enroll students in the program and she helped them select the career field that best suited them. The CROP program was headed by Mr. Jack Oakes. Approximately 120 students enrolled in the program for the 1982-'83 school year.

Pupils Compete in Academic Contest

The 1982 Orange County Academic Decathalon was held on November 20, at Westminster High School. The Academic Decathalon was designed to promote academic excellence through competition and to recognize those students who excelled in academic areas. The Academic Decathalon consisted of ten events, the first three being demonstrations. The demonstrations were an interview, an essay, and a speech. The other seven events were examinations on various subjects. The El Toro team consisted of seniors Lisa Baziak,Susan Tanner, John Tessier, juniors Frank Chiricosta, Steve Fisch, Dave Lipin, Ray Spence, Katy St.John, Shannon Sweeney, and Tae You. They were coached and instructed by Mr. Jim Shields. Some team members received individual awards: Ray Spence and Dave Lipin earned first place in instrumental music; Shannon Sweeney received second place in Honors English grammar and literature, and Katy St.John received second place in scholastic English grammar and literature.

Honors: Students Ultimate Challenge

This year there were several honors classes offered for the student who wanted to learn more and possibly prepare for taking the Advanced Placement Test. The honors courses were designed for accelerated students. Ms. Sally Hotchkiss taught English Honors IV, a culmination of a four year honors program. In this class, senior honors students developed the ability to analyze poetry and classical works of literature and to give oral presentations of their evaluation.

Intensive vocabulary and grammar were also stressed. Mrs. Freda Gully taught American Literature to junior Honors III students. Mr. Al Desmarais taught British literature to sophomore Honors II students. Freshmen Honors I students, instructed by Mr. Jim Shields were taught a sampling of world literature. Vocabulary and grammar were emphasized in all English honors classes. For those who wished to gain more knowledge and desired more challenging classes, Algebra II Honors, Geometry Honors, and Chemistry Honors were offered.

1. Ms. Christy MacBride helps a group of students in her Geometry Honors class. 2.Mike Patnode listens quietly to a lecture. 3. Mr. Jim Shields rests for a moment while correcting some papers. 4. Mrs. Freda Gully delivers a lecture to her English Honors III class. 5. Eric Young listens intently to a lecture. 6. Mr. Al Desmarais makes a strong emphasis to his English Honors II class. 7. Jennifer Marble takes down some notes in class. 8. Ms. Sally Hotchkiss gathers a few papers for class. 9. Ron Bauer, David Lipin, and Tae You discuss several things before class.

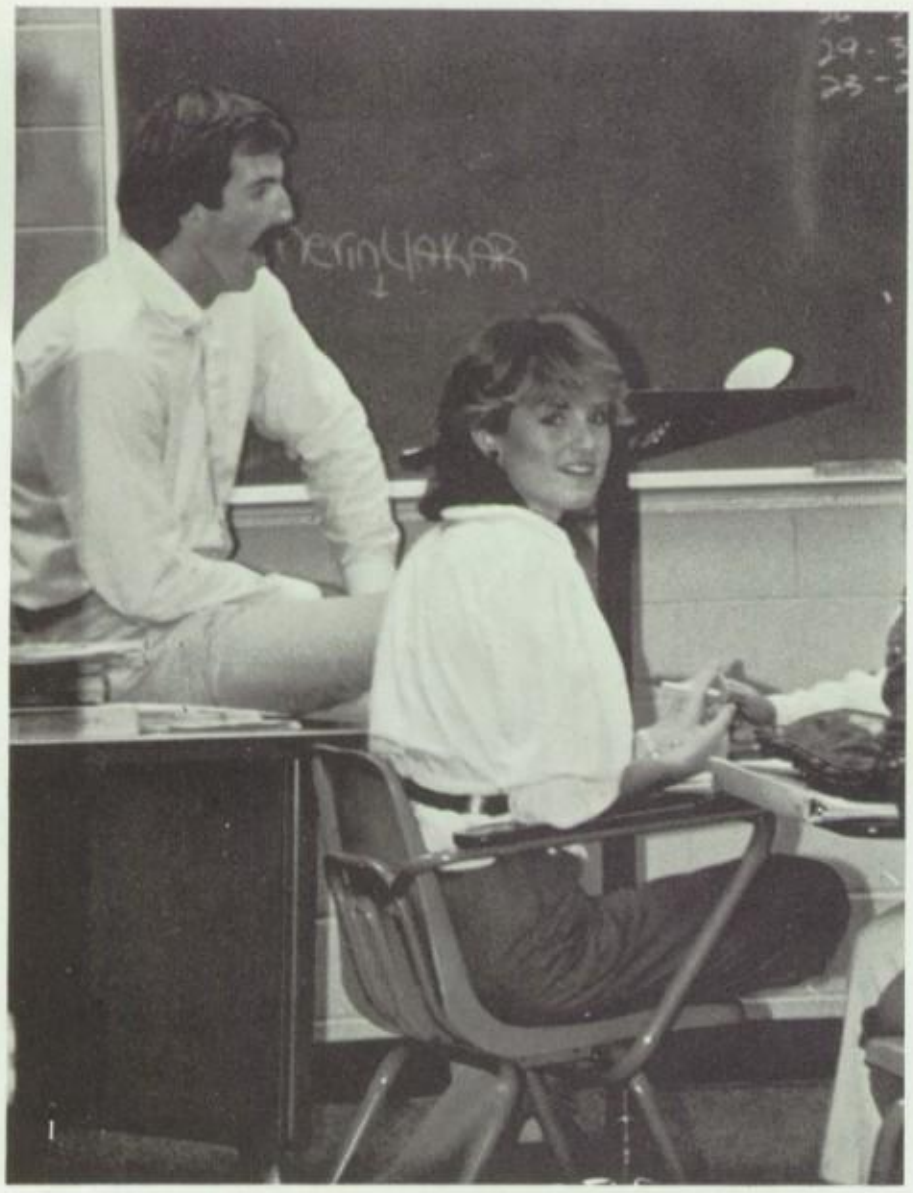
AP US History Prepares Students

The Advanced Placement U.S. History course was taught by Mr. Tom Barnes during first, second and sixth periods. The course was designed for high-ability level students and helped to prepare students for work at the college level. In the class, more responsibility was placed upon the student than in the regular U.S. History classes. Besides more responsibility, more ability of cognitive thinking was achieved by the students in A.P. History.

The course was also designed to aid and prepare those students who wished to take the A.P. exam. The age of discovery through the 1960's was emphasized in the history course.

The third year of the advanced placement program was 1982-83. The prerequisite for enrolling in the advanced class of U.S. History was a recommendation by one's counselor or another teacher. Approximately 90 students were enrolled in the program this year.

1. Mr. Tom Barnes and Mike Brooks look at an assignment that was handed back to another student. 2. Michelle Buck and Sally Tanner work on a class assignment together. 3. Tiffany Golden listens carefully to an important lecture. 4. Amy St.John and Dana Schmalz have a discussion about Mr. Tom Barnes' lecture. 5. Bill Johnson and Thierry McEldowney check their grades. 6. Dawn Nocie listens with interest to Mr. Barnes giving a lecture to his class.

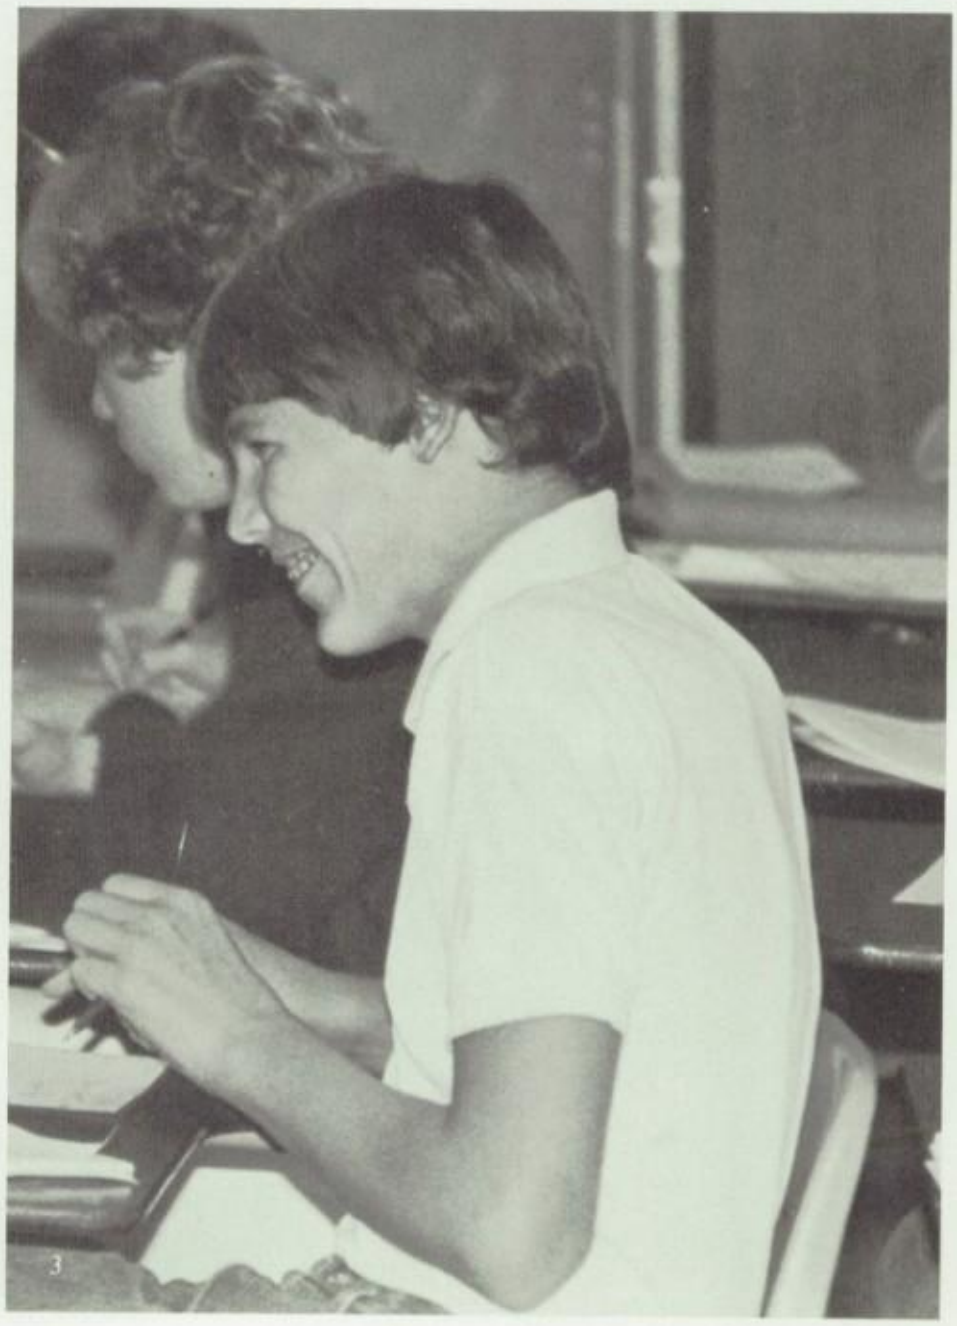


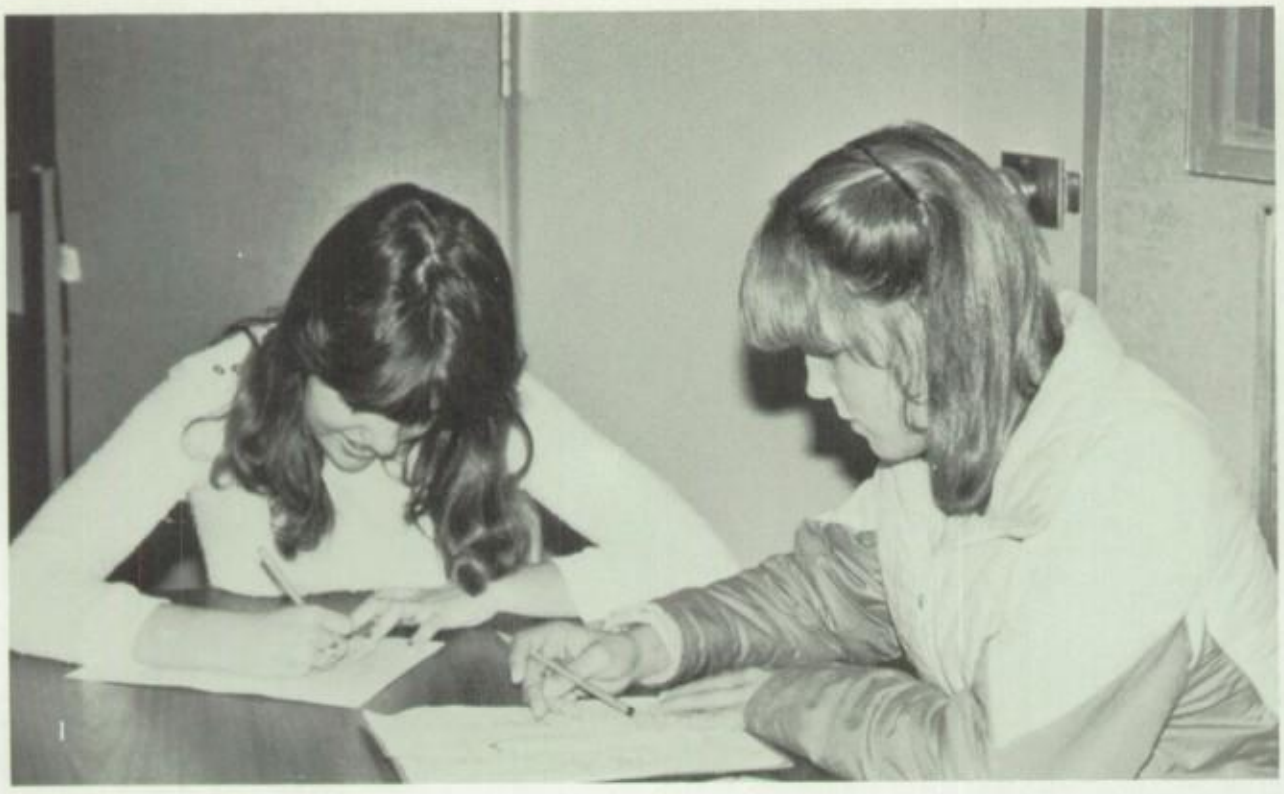
Educational Grant Discontinued in '83

This was the last year that El Toro High School received a federal grant for Getting to Know You, the Cognitive Pathway to Intercultural Relations. El Toro High School received a $56,000 grant for this special program. The program was designed to promote better relations between cultures by making the students aware of how different cultures are a part of American society and do dispel any traditional prejudices. The federal grant was a part of the world cultures program. Every ninth grade student participated in the program.

Mrs. Goldsmith produced the idea for the grant and Mrs. Dorothy Freeman wrote it. Mrs. Patsy Barry and Mr. Bill Rollins were the co-directors, Mr. Paul Beidler, Mr. Jeff Butler, and Mr. Jim Utt were the instructors. The program was granted through the federal government under the secondary educational act. Due to President Reagan's block grant, which all grants came under, El Toro High School's grant was discontinued.

1. Mr. Jeff Butler is astounded at one of the comments that one of his students makes and Mandi Larson pauses for a moment for a group discussion. 2. Carol Speaker states her opinion during a class discussion week in Getting to Know You, the Cognitive Pathway to Intercultural Relations. 3. Brian Mueller smiles as Mr. Beidler makes a funny comment during his presentation for the students of the federal grant program.





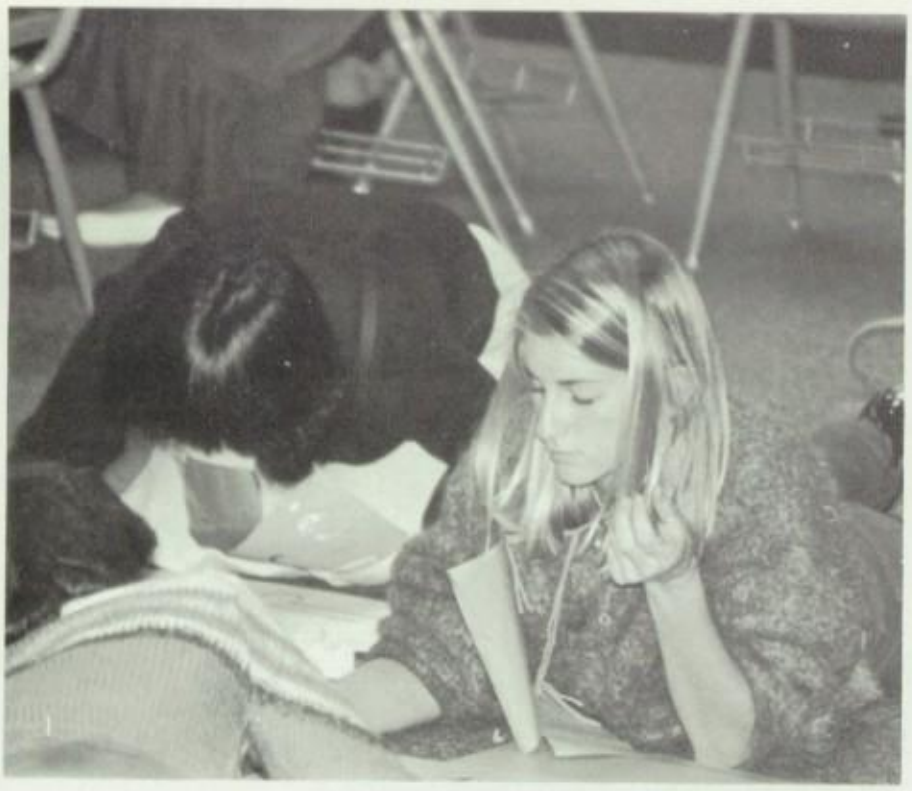
TAP Students Put Forth Best Effort

The teacher's assistance program was coordinated by Mrs. Jonnie Mitchell. TAP was a tutoring program in which students from El Toro tutored other high school, intermediate, and elementary school students who were slow learners, had special problems, or were from other countries. Another function of TAP was to help teachers work with small groups.

TAP was designed for students who liked to work with children, or whose goal in life might be to teach, or just for the self-satisfaction of helping others. The TAP course gave students a chance to achieve goals and allowed them to feel good about themselves.

During the first two weeks of the school year, TAP students were trained how to tutor other students. They also learned about discipline, and how to deal with students who had special problems. The TAP students were then matched to a job that equalled their abilities. After the TAP students had their assignments, they were put to work in their special field.

1. TAP student, Teresa Snope tutors Yvonne Smith. 2. LeNetta Anglin is busy working for TAP. 3. Cathie Mahon patiently helps Tammy Thomas with a project. 4. Lisa Gasser works on an assignment for TAP. 5. Lisa Ensley works with Hugo Beltran for her TAP assignment.



Peer Facilitators Learn Counseling

Mrs. Susan Toibin was the instructor for the Peer Facilitators also known as Seminar Psychology. Peer Facilitators were students who were learning how to become student counselors. The class was designed for students to learn communication skills. The purpose of the class was to teach students to become effective talkers and listeners to students who had any kind of problem.

There were three types of counseling that the Peer Facilitators participated in. They were working with students who were new to the school, lonely, used drugs or alcohol, or whose parents used drugs or alcohol. The student counselors worked with students whose parents were divorced or who were going through a divorce. The Peer Facilitators went to Serrano Intermediate School where they had one on one counseling sessions. The student counselors went to La Madera School in December and gave a presentation on accepting responsibility. The Peer Facilitators attended Olivewood School in February and held a drug and alcohol presentation. Seminar Psychology was open to any high school student. Twenty-six students enrolled in the class and they met fifth period. This was the first year that Peer Facilitators met as a class, last year it was a club.

The NFL Players Association went out for an eight week strike shortening the football season to 10 games. It was a year of records also with Ricky Henderson setting a major league record for stealing bases, and for Wayne Gretzky setting a NHL scoring mark. This was a year of retirement with Sugar Ray Leanord and Bjorn Borg retiring from their sports. This year also had sorrow with one of college football's great coaches, Paul "Bear" Bryant, dying.

1. The Washington Redskins, with the help of John Riggins running, defeated the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl XVII. 2. The NFL Players Association went out for an eight week strike, shortening the season to 10 games. 3. Bruce Sutter saves another game for the 1983 World Series champions the St. Louis Cardinals. 4. Paul Bear Bryant dies at the age of 68. 5. Bjorn Borg retires from tennis. 6. Rickey Henderson steals 124 bases and sets a major league record. 7. Sugar Ray Leonard at age 26 retires from the ring.

Entertainment: The Year of the Movie

The year of the movie, 1982-83 was filled with many great movies — An Officer and a Gentleman, Gandhi, Tootsie, E.T., The Verdict, Rocky III, The Return of the Jedi and many more. This year had celebration also with Johnny Carson celebrating his twentieth season on the Tonight Show, and with Toto almost sweeping the Grammy Awards. This year was filled with sorrow also with the death of many stars, Karen Carpenter, and Grace Kelly.

1. Sylvestor Stallone stars in Rocky III, a major motion picture in 1982. 2. Johnny Carson celebrates his twentieth season on the tonight show. 3. "An Officer and a Gentleman," starring Richard Gere, had six academy award nominations including best picture. 4. E.T. is one of the biggest money makers of the year. 5. Dustin Hoffman, star of Tootsie, one of the funniest movies of the year. 6. John Belushi, star of Saturday Night Live, dies at the height of his career.

New, Old Music Rise on Charts

This past year was a field day for music lovers. MTV brought a person's favorite performer into their home. At concerts, huge video screens enabled the person sitting farthest away to have an up-close view of the group. People were seen everywhere and doing everything with their tiny headphones and cassette players. Sound of the 50's came back to life with the rockabilly craze. Bringing back memories of Woodstock, the US Festival was a success. The Who's final tour left fans wanting more. Every year new sounds are introduced, widening the range of rock 'n roll.

Different Looks Arrive in Fashion

Fashion was an ever changing scene. Hair took on a whole new dimension ranging from Mohawks to Lady Di cuts. Berets and other kinds of hats were seen everywhere. A person could choose between low heels with bows to high pumps. At the beginning of the year the tuxedo look was big. The colors were black, red and white, later changing to pink during spring. Thrift shops were raided for gloves and bowling shirts. There was no set style, people wore what they liked.

1. Kathleen Garvey and Jim Mangen are all set for Harvard in their preppy attire. 2. Marla Setting, Mia Moorehead and Gaylen Gilmer wear the tuxedo look. 3. Stella Simpson, Jill Sloat and Kristi Reed have different styles for a special evening. 4. Tammy Tudor, Shannon Bloch and Shelly Stenger show off their party dresses. 5. Seniors came up with their own version of comfortable sweats. 6. Greg Martin, Renee DePaul and Joe Mulvihill are decked-out with duck tails.

Seven Deaths Due to Poisoned Pills

In El Toro High School, the people weren't always aware of what had been happening on the outside of their microcosm. While students breathlessly awaited the announcement of the 1982 Homecoming Queen and cheered the football team to a CIF championship, many events shook the world. The bloody war in Lebanon, between the Israelis and the PLO, raged on, while in another part of the globe, Russia's leader, Leonid Brezhnev, passed away. Another death, that of 1950's starlet Grace Kelly, princess of Monaco, sent tremors of grief through the world.

In the United Stated, the Equal Rights Amendment was defeated and the Reagan administration ran up the highest federal budget deficit in this country's history.

Locally, unseasonal storms caused high waves along the coast, wreaking havoc on seaside homes. Attorney General George "Duke" Deukmejian became California's new governor, and his administration started off shakily by having to send California citizens tax refunds in the form of I.O.U.'s.

Even though many students aren't aware of it, there is an outside world.

1. The war between the Israelis and the PLO has turned the city of Lebanon into a smoke filled haven of gloom. 2. The painkiller, Extra-Strenght Tylenol, was removed from the shelves in October after seven people died from cyanide laced capsules. 3. The space shuttle Columbia embarked on another successful flight in December. 4. In September, Princess Grace Kelly of Monoco, former America starlet, died in a fatal automobile accident in France. 5. In honor of the 57,939 men and women who died in the Vietnam war, a black granite memorial was erected in Washington. 6. In November, after 18 years in office, Soviet leader Leonid Brehznev died as a result of heart problems. 7. In July, Princess Diana and Prince Charles produced an heir to the British throne; little Prince William Arthur Philip Louis.

ADVERTISING

At the beginning of the school year, the yearbook staff was confronted with one of life's major phobias, selling advertisements. After a weeks briefing on the matter, they were turned loose into the community. Almost immediately the symptoms began to appear; lack of transportation, doctor and dentist appointments, amnesia, and terminal procrastination. Nevertheless, they set out to do what had to be done.

Once out in the community, the search began for prospective buyers. With an advertising contract in hand, a nervous smile, and a glimmer of hope they combed nearly all of the Saddleback Valley. They were often faced with rejection and sent away somewhat downhearted, but without broken spirits. In the end, all the eight pages of advertising space was sold and the relieved bunch lived happily until the next deadline.

Advertisements posed a very important asset to the successful production of the 1982-1983 Amanecer. A sincere thank you deserves to be given to each business and each individual who gave us their support. In addition, by buying an advertisement and boosting morale, you eliminated the selling-advertisements phobiac from the entire Amanecer staff.

1. Senior Mitch Freem finishes mixing paint for a customer at his job in one of the local hardware stores. 2. A lot of creativity is neede to build a sundae good enough to satisfy a customer as senior Kim Kiefer shows.

They say a good thing always gets better. The dedication from both the Amanecer staff and its advisor left room for nothing else. The job was difficult at times but was certainly made easier by the many people who contributed their time and efforts helping to make this book one of which to be proud.

To the 1982-83 Amanecer staff: I am deeply greatful to each and every one of you for all your hard work. It looks great! To Bob Stephenson and Taylor Publishing: Thank you for your wisdom, concern, terrific ideas and artistic abilities. To Dave Anderson at Creative Images: In the air, on the ground, or in the chill of deadlines you were there. Thanks to you and all your help; Kym Dilorio, J. D. Floyd, Stella Kim, Larry Packart, and Eric Simonson. To the senior class and its officers: Thank you for your cooperation with taking senior pictures at Creative Images. To Yary Photography: Thank you for your work on team pictures. To Albert and James Studios: Thank you for the pictures from the Papa Doo Run Run dance. To Ed Kirkwood and Mike Lehman of Accent Slide Productions; Thank you for the terrific job done on the slide show. To Mr. Keith Simms and Mrs. Nettye McKinney: Thank you for your help with the financial part of the book. To Mr. Roger Alfaro and Staff: Thank you for the set-up of the gym during the slide show performances. To Coaches and Club Advisors: Thank you for your patience on club and team picture day. To the many teachers who helped along the way: Thank you for all your support. To Mr. Mike Gallups: I genuinely appreciate all the support and time you put into this, even if you don't like mushrooms!

I thank you all again for everything you have done.
